BECK STALLS ON RECORDS

TOPIC: BERMUDA CONFERENCE — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles (right) chats with Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Theodore F. Green (D), Rhode Island, in Washington before start of the committee's executive session on the Bermuda conference.

Ike, Macmillan in Mideast Discussion

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan began their formal talks today with the Mideast problem the top item on their agenda.

The President and the Prime Minister opened the session with brief general statements on how they viewed world conditions. Then, flanked by their top foreign policy advisers, tackled one of the principal sources of friction between the two nations—the troubled Middle East.

The agenda for the three-day talks generally was agreed upon Wednesday night at a three-hour private dinner at the Mid-Ocean Club between Mr. Eisenhower, Macmillan, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty and Peter Hope, spokesman for Macmillan on this trip, expected a report on the morning session this afternoon.

Pickup 3rd pgh: According to

According to the best available information from both British and American sources, President Eisenhower planned to do most of the listening in the first stage of the conference and let the British take the initiative

Mapping Strategy

Today's session was the first formal meeting across the polished conference table in the club lounge where Mr. Eisenhower met in 1953 on a similar mission with Britain's Winston Churchill and France's Joseph Laniel.

There was every indication they had a monumental job to do. In just 72 hours they will try to realign Anglo-American policies on nearly a dozen major world problems, on some of which there is known to be considerable divergence of opinion between them.

There were indications one of the most important parts of the conference will deal with Britain's determination to pull out 13,500 of its 70,000 troops in Germany within the next year to cut down on defense costs.

The British also plan to make further reductions in the future The U S. view is this might seriously weaken the North Atlantic Treaty Organization shield against possible Soviet expansion.

Pirate Players Hold Fire Drill

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP) — Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Bobby Bragan and four players had an unscheduled base-running drill today when they fled fire at the Bradford Hotel.

Players Dick Groat, Bill Mazeroski, Cholly Naranjo and Buddy Pritchard were routed along with Bob Rice, club traveling secretary, publicist Jack Berger and scores of other guests. There were no injuries.

The blaze apparently began from defective wiring in a storage room. Smoke billowed from a first floor shoe store and filled the upper two floors.

Fayette City and Perry Candidates Are Announced

No Republicans have filed nomination petitions for offices in Perryopolis and only one has filed for the Fayette City offices to be voted on in the May 21 primary.

In Perryopolis, Kermit Buttermore is the Republican candidate for tax collector. On the Democratic ticket, P. J. Hlavach and John Banu are opposing each other.

Here are the Democratic candidates for the other Perryopolis offices: Burgess: Russell J. Blair; Council: Ernest Barnes, Steve Zackal, H. S. Cook, Henry DiVirgilio, Thomas Karolik and John Valosen; Justice of the Peace: James R. Aspinwall

It is an all-Democratic ticket in Fayette City:

Burgess: George Gardner and Sherman Craft; Council: Jacob Zubovic, William Gardner, Jr., Louis Alberta, R, E. Ermlick, Thurman W. Bailey, Marion DeRienzo: school director G. G Hancock, Ruth Lakel and J. E. Hamer; tax collector: Charles L. Humphries.

208 Democrats, Six Republicans Register Here

The powerful Monessen Democratic machine is in a state of perplexity today.

They can't fathom how eight persons had the audacity to register anything but Democratic in yesterday's voter registration day here.

At the close of registrations at 9 p. m., six persons registered Republican, one an Independent and another a Socialist.

The Democrats needn't weep too much, however, because 208 persons registered in their party and 14 Republicans changed their registrations to Democrat.

Sixty changes of address were recorded.

The second and final registration day in Monessen before the May 21 primary is scheduled for next Wednesday.

Car Hits Power Pole; Five Killed

BEJOU. Minn. (UP)—Five persons were killed, three by electrocution in a futile rescue attempt today after a car smashed into a power line pole on U. S. 59, one mile north of here.

Six other persons were injured in the accident. Two were killed outright in the car and the three others died trying to pull the bodies out of the car after it landed in a water-filled ditch.

Bailey Quits Race For Prothonotary

Stanley T. Bailey, Jr, yesterday removed himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Westmoreland County prothonotary, leaving incumbent Leo Sukala without opposition in the May 21 primary.

Monday is the last day for candidates who have filed petitions to withdraw them. It is also the last day to file objections to petitions.

Pittsburgh Steel Net Income Drops; Blamed On Strike, High Costs

The Pittsburgh Steel Co. earned a net income of $6,225,000 in 1956, the company reported to its stockholders today.

The report said the reduction in net earnings from the 1955 mark of $7,515,470 was due mainly to last year's steel strike and to increased costs in connection with the company's current expansion program.

Total sales for 1956 however, were slightly higher than those for the previous year — $178,275,626 against $176,732,232.

In a forecast for 1957, President Allison R. Maxwell, Jr., and Board Chairman H. B. Collamore said Pittsburgh Steel is anticipating increasing competition in the steel industry. But they said plant improvements and increased operating efficiency will enable the company to meet the competition

"We are looking forward to a good year in 1957," they concluded

Pittsburgh Steel's profit amounted to 3 5 per cent of its total sales against 4 3 per cent in 1955. Per common share the earnings were $3.24 in 1956 and $4.09 in 1955.

The net sales established a new record for the company, just topping 1955, which was the all-time banner year for most of the industry.

21 in Expansions

The report said the current plant improvement program, originally estimated to cost $15 million, has been expanded to a total cost of $21. The principal features of the program are the installation of a new 30-inch billet mill at Monessen and expansion of facilities at the Thomas Strip Division, Warren, O.

Already completed are the installation of 19 new coke ovens, modernization of two blast furnaces, and new buildings and facilities for the manufacture of contruction products. All of these improvements have been made at the Monessen plant.

Major improvements are about 60 per cent complete in the open hearth department at Monessen All 12 furnaces are being enlarged.

Improvements are also being made to rolling mill equipment for the manufacture of semi-finished steel for wire and tubular products. Modernization of the 18-inch rolling mill will be completed this year, and the operation of the new 30-inch mill is scheduled for early 1958. These also are located here.

New equipment being added for the production of specialty plated products at Thomas Division will be completed this year, the report said.

The company increased the prices of all of its products following settlement of the steel strike last year. it was said. But Maxwell and Collamore added that the increased sales revenue "is being offset by rapidly rising costs of purchased materials, supplies and services".

However, they said the plant improvement program and the additional ingot capacity should result "in greater operating efficiency, resulting in lower costs".

The report noted that during 1956 Maxwell succeeded Avery C. Adams as president after Adams left Pittsburgh Steel to become president of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Primary Battle For Burgess Is Set for Donora

Predominantly Democratic Donora is in for a primary battle triggered by the decision of Burgess August Z. Chambon to run for tax collector.

Chambon filed for the tax collector's office after serving three terms as borough head and two incumbent councilmen and two other Democrats immediately filed for the burgess post.

At the same time, 11 Democrats filed for nomination for four openings on the borough's seven member council including former All-American football star, Arnold Galiffa.

By way of contrast not a single Republican filed for either burgess or council, although one, William C. Jones, filed for the tax collector nomination.

The Democratic burgess nomination hopefuls include John Marasovich and Albert P. Delsandro, incumbent councilmen, and J. Roy Brooks and Ed Tomaseski.

The council hopefuls include, Galiffa, incumbents Joseph Mouyard and Albert F. Pipik, along with Walter Karol, Steve George, Joseph Verducci, Michael Durki, John A. Murray, John Duda, Jr., Harry W. Steck and Thomas R. Neill.

Chambon has plenty of competition for the nomination for tax collector. The others who filed are George Kovalcik, John K. Taylor and Edward Bettinelli.

Fayette Budget Adopted; Tax Millage Same

A budget of $1,705,856 for 1957 was adopted yesterday by Fayette County Commissioners.

The tax rate remains unchanged at 14 mills.

The millage for county tax purposes finds 10 mills for the General Fund, three for the Institution District and one for the Sinking Fund.

The new budget lists $106, 882.74 more than actual expenditures during 1956. It was pointed out that the added expense was caused principally by pay wages to county employes and new projects by the road and bridge department. There also has been a general hike in fees to penal institutions.

The General Fund budget of $1,289,999 lists $81,532 94 above that expended last year. Also, the Institution District budget of $41,857 reveals estimated expenditures of $25,349.80 above that of 1956.

The district includes the County Home, County Farm and the Child Welfare Bureau.

A General Fund balance of $14,399.95 at the end of 1957 is estimated in the new budget totals.

Torquato Asked to Quit As Democratic Head

JOHNSTOWN, Pa (UP)—John R. Torquato, fired as state secretary of labor and industry earlier this year, has been asked to resign as Democratic chairman in Cambria County.

He said he has "no intention" of doing so.

Seven Democratic officeholders and two judges requested Torquato's resignation Wednesday for "the best interest of the Democratic Party."

They said that "unpleasant current events beyond our control involving some members of our party, in addition to the unexplained summary dismissal of (Torquato)" require the resignation.

Judges Ivan J. McKenrick and Alton A. McDonald, noting that as judges they cannot become involved in a "political controversy." said that "as registered Democratic voters" they have the right to express their opinion.

"We believe he should resign," they said.

Torquato replied. "I have no intention of resigning . . . I am not answerable to any self-appointed group. I am answerable only to the duly elected committeemen and committeewomen and the Democratic Party voters."

Torquato is in his seventh two-year term as county chairman. The term expires in June, 1958

He was fired by Governor George M. Leader in January during a controversy over the administration of a $1,170,000 fund in his department. He had refused the governor's request that he resign.

Those asking Torquato's resignation, in addition to the judges, were Dist. Atty. David C. Wolfe, Recorder of Deeds Dennis L Michael J. Hartnett. Clerk of Courts Joseph Wess. Prothonotary Joseph C. Dolan and Commissioners Thomas A. Owens and Pat Farrell.

Symphony Denies Racial Bias

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra has denied a Methodist bishop's charge it practices color discrimination

John S Edwards. orchestra manager. denied "without qualification" the charge made by Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke of Pittsburgh in an address Tuesday at a Methodist Conference in Chicago.

Bishop Wicke said there is "rigorous" color discrimination in top educational and artistic circles in citing the Pittsburgh Symphony.

Edwards said in a telegram to the bishop that Negro performers have appeared with the orchestra as soloists on numerous occasions, and that vacancies are filled "on the basis of ability and symphony experience, regardless of race, color, sex or creed."

Second 'Polio Day' Saturday In Westmoreland

The second "Polio Day" for Monessen and the rest of Westmoreland County will be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m, the Westmoreland County Medical Society reminded today. The first "Polio Day" was held Feb. 23.

The Society has undertaken a program to administer vaccine free of charge to all pre-school and school children up to the age of 20.

The vaccine for adults is $3 per shot. However, there will be no charge for those unable to pay the fee.

In reminding residents of the second "Polio Day", the Society said:

"All those who received their first inoculation on Feb. 23 are urgently advised to have their second shot this Saturday. The third will be given in seven months or the latter part of October. If you have not already started your inoculations, we urge you to do so starting Saturday."

About 3,000 Monessen residents received anti-polio shots on Feb 23

Burgess Race Expected in Belle Vernon

The reelection of Democratic Burgess William Venneri, of Belle Vernon, will be challenged by John Perry and Joseph Caputo in the May 21 primary. No Republican has filed for the office

In the race for Belle Vernon Council, eight democrats and three Republicans have filed nomination petitions for the two openings. Democrats George Fedarko and Alex Basits are being opposed for reelection by Fred Matrozzo, Al Dominick, J. C. Webb, George Galiatto, Lawrence Teano and Andrew Skruber.

Republican Council candidates include Harry T. Ringstad, Jr., Kenneth Beazell and J. R. Hassen, Jr.

T. G. Stanley and J. E Kuhn, Democrats, are seeking reelection as School Directors and have opposition from Joseph Ferrari, Harry Hackenson, Jr., is the lone Republican to file.

Patsy Cicco is the only Democrat opposing the reelection of Stephen Smith as tax collector. No Republicans are in the race for this post.

Czech Olympic Star Can Wed American

LONDON (UP) — Communist Czechoslovakia gave its blessing today for American Olympic star Harold Connolly to wed pretty Olga Fikotova, the Czech discus champion he met and wooed at the Melbourne Olympics.

The U S. Embassy in Prague reported by telephone that Connolly got the news of official permission after a hurried flight across the Iron Curtain to his fiancee's side He had been waiting in Vienna for the Czechs to act on a personal appeal to Czech President Antonin Zapotocky.

Teamsters Boss Fails to Tell Probers Whether He Will Show Finances

Beck, Mystery Man Are Linked

WASHINGTON (UP)—Teamsters Union boss Dave Beck was linked recently in a local real estate deal with a mystery man who has been accused of receiving more than 20.000 of union funds, it was revealed today.

The previously undisclosed transaction—unearthed by United Press—is known to the Senate Labor Rackets Committee. which planned to spring it on the pudgy president of the nation's biggest union when it cross-examines him on his personal finances.

The Treasury Department also is known to be looking into the transaction

The United Press learned of the transaction independently. Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy conceded he knew of the deal but would make no further comment

Real estate records of Montgomery County, Md., adjacent to the nation's capital, disclosed that Beck bought a plush five-bedroom brick house in an upper-middle class district on Aug 25, 1953, for about $29,000.

Thirteen months later he transferred a half interest in the property to a friend, Nathan W. Shefferman, a Chicago free-lance "labor relations consultant" for management.

House Is Sold

Beck and Shefferman, as co-owners, sold the house in 1955 for 32.500.

Kennedy. in a committee hearing last Friday, produced documents which he said showed that 20,068.27 of funds of the Western Conference of Teamsters found their way to Shefferman's bank account in Chicago in four checks between February, 1951, and November, 1952.

One check was made direct to Shefferman for 2,068 27 and signed by Beck, then chairman of the Western Conference, and by Frank W. Brewster, then its secretary-treasurer.

Kennedy said three checks on Western Conference funds, signed by Beck and Brewster, were made out in 1951 to the public relations division of the Teamsters' Joint Council in Los Angeles. He said the public relations division issued checks to Shefferman for identical amounts—5,000, $7,000 and $6,000—a few days after the conference checks were received.

Charleroi Accident Results in Suit

An accident on First street in Charleroi, June 2, 1956, is the cause of a suit filed by Martha E. Wolff, of Pittsburgh, against Kirby and Frank E. Clark, of Charleroi, R. D. 2.

The complaint charges that Kirby Clark was the driver of a car owned by Frank Clark which went through a "stop sign" and struck the car in which Martha Wolff was a passenger.

The driver of the other car was Adam E Metz. Damages in excess of $2,500 are asked.

Bloom Says GOP to Hold New Tax Line

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom today reiterated his party's intention to hold the line against new taxes in Pennsylvania and rapped the administration of Gov. George M. Leader for "wasteful and extravagant" spending.

Bloom, in a letter mailed to all newspapers in the state, outlined the GOP position on what he said was a "battle between two forces" in the Republican-controlled Legislature and the Democratic state administration.

"Pitted against one another will be those who advocate spending plans which will make added taxation necessary, and those who are pledged to hold the line on taxes," he said. "The outcome will affect every family in Pennsylvania. The conflict in Harrisburg stems directly from a difference of opinion as to how much we should spend."

Bloom said the governor's proposed $1 6-billion General Fund outlay would require new taxes, but the GOP program of $1.5-billion could be raised through existing taxes, with a $250,000,000 higher yield than previously, and reflected in bills now moving through the Legislature.

He said the $1 5-billion would be "ample not only to continue present governmental programs but to expand and to meet new needs in public education, public health and the other fields of governmental responsibility."

Bloom charged the governor's estimated $82-million deficit facing his administration at the end of the two year fiscal period May 31 could have been avoided by tighter collection of the 3 per cent sales tax. He said the actual revenue from that levy will be at least $110-million under the administration's own estimate two years ago

Charleroi Man Is Mysteriously Shot Near Home

James Dick, 52, of Charleroi, remained in critical condition today with a bullet wound in his back suffered late Tuesday night when he was "mysteriously" shot within two blocks of his home.

Police still are searching for a motive and a gunman in connection with the shooting of the unemployed laborer.

Neither the gun nor the bullet, which is believed to be either a .22 or .25 caliber, have been found.

Dick's wife, Helen, told police her husband staggered to their home on Maple Creek Road on old Route 71, near the west boundry of Charleroi Police believe he was shot about 200 yards from his home.

Police said Dick's version of the circumstances surrounding the shooting and his wife's story conflict at points. The conflicts, police said, are concerned with the actual time and place of the shooting

Second Channel In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pittsburgh will have its second commercial high frequency television station late this summer when WIIC will begin operations on Channel 11.

The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday formally assigned the channel to WWSW Inc., of Pittsburgh. The action followed settlement of litigation last month and dismissal of a stay granted by the Court of Appeals in Washington.

Construction of the station, which had been halted by court action instituted by operators of WENS, a Pittsburgh high frequency station, will be resumed immediately.

Faces Senate Body Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamsters President Dave Beck passed up a chance today to tell the Senate Rackets Committee whether he will hand over his personal financial records on Tuesday.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said he received a new telegram from Beck, but "the reservations are still there" on whether Beck would surrender his records or invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to give them up.

"Only he (Beck) can say what he means," McClellan told newsmen. "It is not clear whether he intends to make his records available for committee inspection, or merely means to have them physically present."

McClellan said there would be "no point in a subpena if he brings the records."

Under the law, a subpena could require Beck to bring his records to the hearing room. He has already promised to do this next Tuesday. But he could not be compelled to hand them over to the committee if he wished to invoke the Fifth Amendment and swear they contained information which might tend to incriminate him.

McClellan disclosed Beck's telegram as the committee recalled Frank W. Brewster, West Coast Teamsters boss, for more questioning on his own personal finances.

Wants Brewster's Records

McClellan told newsmen he would ask Brewster to give up his own financial records. McClellan said the committee might subpena them if Brewster, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, refused.

Brewster told reporters the committee has about all of his personal books except a checkbook for routine household expenses.

Brewster said the committee could have the checkbook if it wanted it.

Beck—if subpenaed—is required by law to come to the hearing room with his records. But he can invoke the Fifth Amendment against handing them over to the committee if he feels they would tend to incriminate him.

Brief Early Questioning

However, should Beck withhold records on the plea of possible self-incrimination, there would remain many avenues still open for committee investigation of his personal financial activities.

President Eisenhower opened a principal one earlier this week when he authorized the committee to have access to tax returns of persons it is investigating.

Regardless of Beck's decision, the committee does not plan to question him extensively next week It wants to get his records if possible, question other witnesses, gather information about Beck's financial activities from other sources and then recall him.

Three-car Crash On Schoonmaker Late Last Night

A three-car accident occurred on Schoonmaker avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets late last night, Monessen police reported today.

The cars involved were operated by Michael Dacko, of 85 Scenery boulevard, Monessen: John Andresky, of Coal Center, and Richard Allen, of 476 McKee avenue, Monessen.

Police said the Andresky car caught the bumper of the Dacko machine causing it to strike the Allen vehicle.

No major damage was reported

In another accident yesterday afternoon, a car operated by Ronald Duda, of 257 Linden avenue, was traveling east on Grand boulevard when it went out of control on the wet highway and struck a utility pole, police said.

Duda reportedly was uninjured.

'Brain Power Reservoir' Need Is Great, Noted Scientist Says

CHICAGO (UP) — A noted research chemist says the government should set up a "brain power reservoir" of scientific talent.

Dr. Otto Eisenschiml has these suggestions for winning the scientific manpower race with Russia:

—"Glamorize" scientists, publicize them as we do movie stars and athletes.

—Raise the pay of science instructors to the level of football coaches.

—Put jobless or older scientists in the Army, with officer rank and commensurate pay to form a "brain power pool."

Eisenschiml, head of Scientific Oil Compounding Co., took issue with Dr. Edward Teller, nuclear physicist who contends that Russia will have the world's best scientists in 10 years.

Not Better, But More

"The Russians never will have better scientists than we have." Eisenschiml said, "but they surely will have more of them unless we stop talking and do something about it."

For a quarter of a century, Eisenschiml has been traveling the country lecturing to high school students on the advantages and disadvantages of a scientific career.

Many bright youngsters shy away from science, he said, because of these factors:

—Relatively low pay, little financial security and long years of hard study.

—Little chance of rising to the top in industry.

—Scant recognition for major contributions.

"A science student must take difficult courses, but he gets no higher grades for them than students in liberal arts," Eisenschiml said. "Then for the rest of his life he must engage in a rat-race to keep up with new developments while his liberal arts schoolmates play golf or pinochle."

Scholarships Not Answer

Scholarships are not the answer. Eisenschiml said.

Chemists and engineers earn about the same as salesmen, he said, but he feels that salary scales generally should be left to the forces of free competition.

But there are many "over-age" scientists who find it hard to change jobs after 40, he said.

He proposed that these and qualified scientists who are jobless through no fault of their own should be taken into the armed forces "and given the rank and pension rights of officers, but with pay commensurate with their qualifications."

"They would form an invaluable brain-power reserve," he said, "and everyone knows that scientists today are as necessary in war as soldiers. And their creative work would eventually more than pay for their upkeep."

Penn State Needs May Up Taxes

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Legislative aid in the form of new taxes may be necessary for more funds for Pennsylvania State University to meet the growing demands for education, Dr. Eric A. Walker, school president, said Wednesday night.

Dr. Walker told a meeting of Penn State alumni that the university, at the request of Gov. George M. Leader, presented a performance budget for the 1957-59 biennium which was about 23 per cent higher than the previous biennium budget.

He said the new budget covered faculty salary adjustments, increased costs of operating programs and additional students. Walker said Leader, attempting to balance the Commonwealth's budget without imposing new taxes, recommended a flat 10 per cent increase over the 1955-57 appropriation.

Walker termed the new appropriation a "disaster budget." He said the university has brought its plight to the legislature and has asked the support of the people of Pennsylvania.

Need New Taxes

He said in seeking the aid of the legislature new taxes almost certain will have to be levied to provide necessary funds and that's where the people come into the picture.

The present appropriation, Walker said, "would permit us barely to maintain our present programs."

"Even with frugal management it would permit no significant salary adjustments. It would permit us to accept almost none of the additional students necessary simply to maintain the current ratio of college going in Pennsylvania in the next two years," he added.

Walker said the increase Penn State seeks would not raise Pennsylvania in the Council of State Government's list of per capita expenditures for higher education. The listing, made in 1955, ranked Pennsylvania third from the bottom among the 48 states.

GOP Sales Tax Program Is Expected to Pass Next Week

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republican-controlled General Assembly has set final passage for next week of legislation extending the 3 per cent sales tax for another two years.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said his bloc would caucus Monday to solidify party ranks on the business exemptions passed by the Senate. Johnson said he expected "little if any" opposition from the 126-member Republican delegation.

The GOP timetable calls for the amended legislation to be brought up for House concurrence during the Monday afternoon session. The Senate passed the bill Tuesday on a straight party vote, 27-22, over Democratic objections that the amendments would give "bonanzas" to public utilities, shipbuilders and manufacturers.

Johnson said he would present the proposed amendments "one by one" to avoid charges of steamroller tactics from the Democratic minority. He said the amendments merely spell out the original intent of the sales tax.

"We may be giving a break to business," Johnson said, "but business has been avoiding or leaving Pennsylvania because of our tax structure. If anything, these amendments will hold businesses here and perhaps bring in new ones."

Johnson charged that a state Justice Department official misinterpreted the intent of the sales tax regarding businesses, thus prompting the Senate amendments. Deputy Attorney General Marvin Garfinkle has been the legal adviser on the sales tax law for the state.

Meanwhile, Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said the unity shown by the Senate Republicans on the GOP "hold the line" on no new taxes proved that the Republicans were the party of "responsibility" in Pennsylvania.

"Efforts of the Democratic legislators to find excuses for avoiding voting for the sales tax were in sharp contrast to the courage shown by Republican legislators," Bloom said.

The House also planned to send legislation to the Senate creating a 10-member joint commission with a $100,000 appropriation to investigate the state Highways department.

Johnson said he expected the House to pass the bill Wednesday following a "full-scale debate." The Democrats indicated they would offer some support to the inquiry to disprove Republican charges that the Highways Department was in a "chaotic condition."

Legislation re-enacting the 14 mills tax on gross receipts of public utilities was signed in the House today and was expected to be signed in the Senate Monday. The tax bill, estimated to return $32-million, would then go to Gov. George M. Leader for enactment.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed the proposed re-enactment of the 1 per cent real estate transfer levy, 48-1. Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) cast the only opposing vote, contending the legislation was "merely another sales tax." The tax would yield an estimated $41.5-million in the 1957-59 fiscal period.

House concurrence is expected on a Senate amendment which would require the Revenue Department to appoint county recorders of deeds as agents for sale of transfer tax stamps.

The House and Senate both return Monday at 3 p.m.

Chemical Hotfoot Given Pigeons In Washington

Washington County officials are giving courthouse pigeons a chemical hotfoot in the latest attempt to rid the building of airborne pests.

Some small success was reported in a report issued by the County Commissioners.

Board Chairman Francis E. Pettit said a sticky cementlike mixture has been spread along some of the lodges and it appears the birds are reluctant to the point of refusal to set foot in the mysterious mixture.

Prior to the application of the pasty chemical, the Commissioners reviewed a number of possibilities for ridding the courthouse of the pigeons including erection of wire barriers, construction of minute, sharp-pointed walls along the edges and poison, although in most instances consideration had to be given to the humane side of the situation.

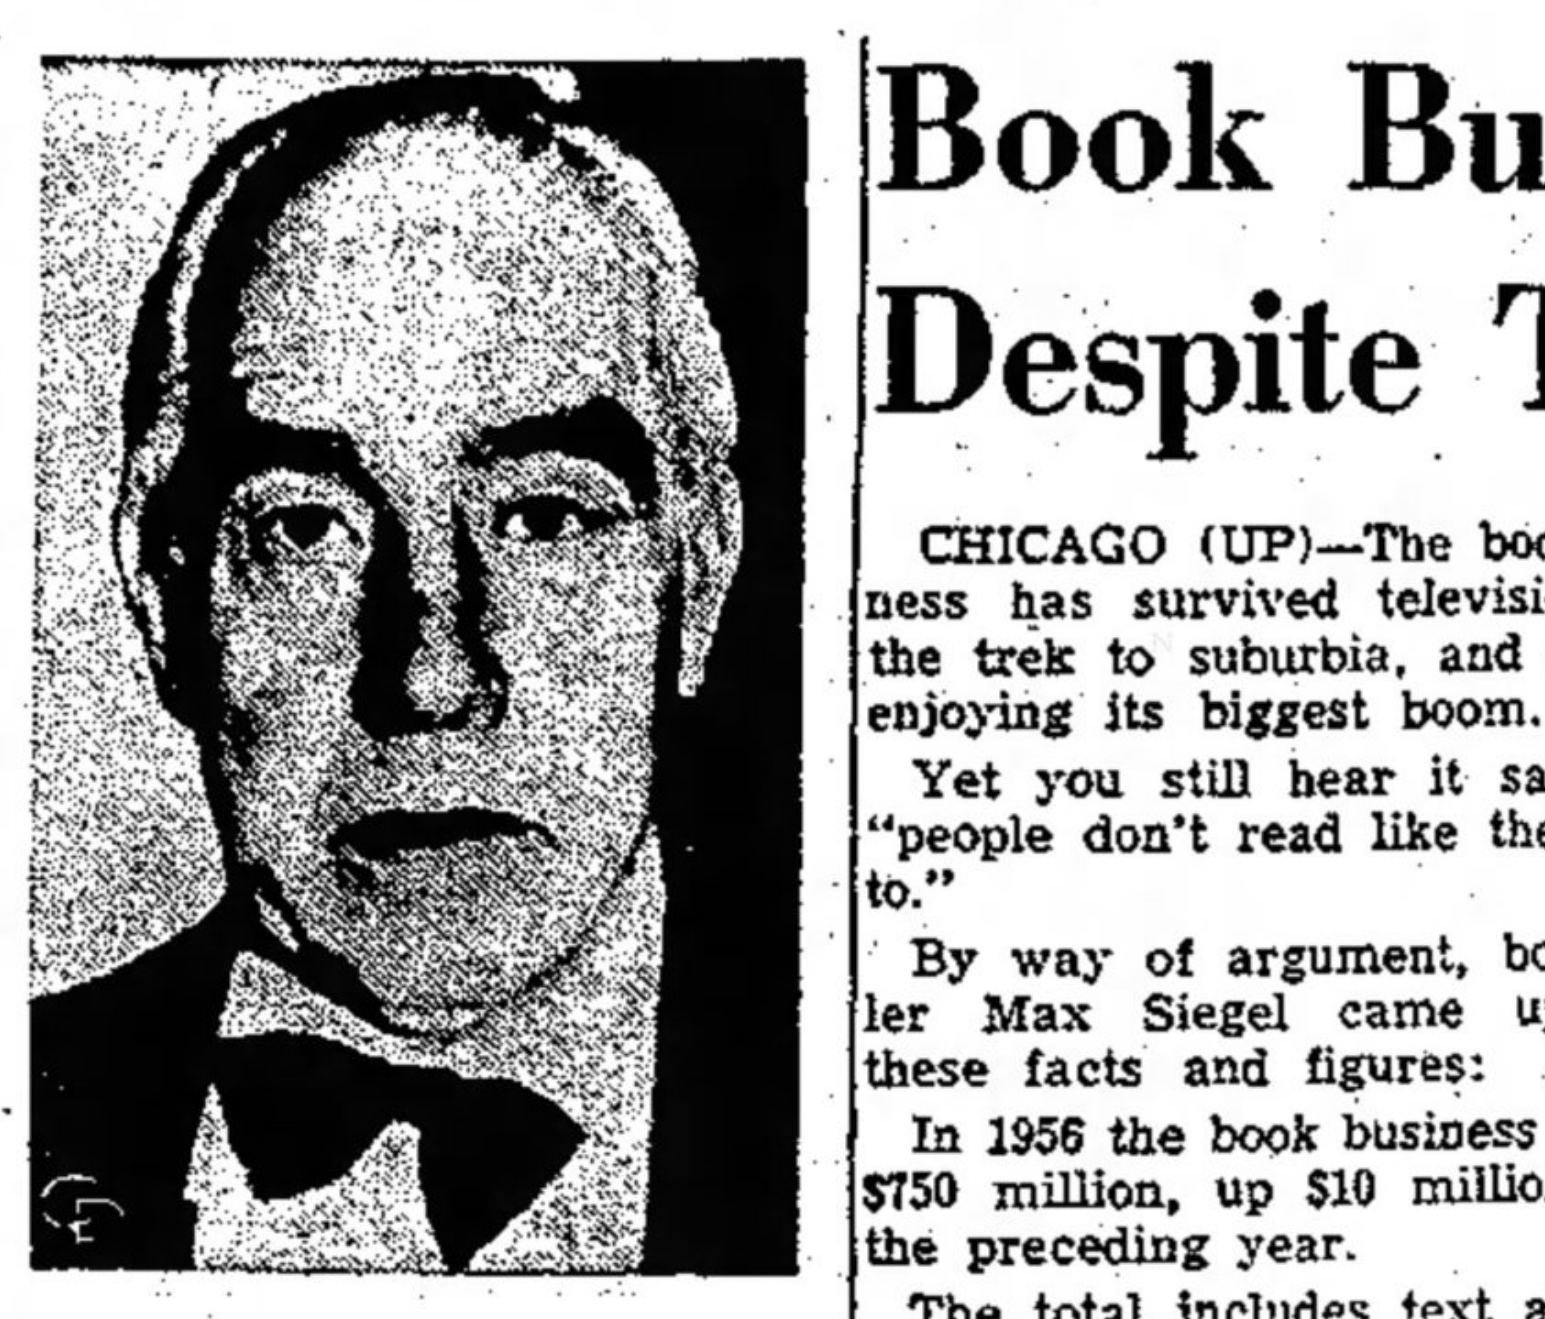
The courthouse pigeons have become a nuisance. Jail trustees have to clean steps and walks daily.

Law Would Require Clear Insurance Ads

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation introduced in the General Assembly today would require all advertisements offering hospitalization insurance or membership in hospital service plans to include the number of days of hospital care per year to which the member or insured would be entitled.

State Sen. Israel Stiefel (D-Philadelphia), sponsor of the bill, said that one large hospitalization plan advertises that "two out of three persons" are members, but he said "the tragedy of the situation is that the members don't know how many days of hospitalization they are entitled to."

A DUTCH TREAT —In Holland, the world's flower garden, it is customary to welcome friends with a bouquet at the end of a journey. At Schipel, national airport of the Netherlands, it is rather easy to follow the custom. All you have to do is to drop two or three guilders in a vending machine and out will come a perfectly fresh, pretty and fragrant Dutch bouquet.



$75,000 AWARD — The first annual "Atoms for Peace" award, including $75,000 cash, goes to Danish physician Nils Bohr (above) for his work as chairman of Denmark's atomic energy commission and his appeals for development of atomic energy for peaceful uses. Bohr, 71, won a Nobel Prize in 1922 for establishing the theoretical explanation for the atomic phenomena of radiation. The "Atoms for Peace" award was established by the three grandsons of Henry Frod.

Book Business Enjoying Boom Despite TV, Trek to Suburbia

CHICAGO (UP)—The book business has survived television and the trek to suburbia, and now is enjoying its biggest boom.

Yet you still hear it said that "people don't read like they used to."

By way of argument, book seller Max Siegel came up with these facts and figures:

In 1956 the book business totaled $750 million, up $10 million from the preceding year.

The total includes text and reference books. All others had a total volume of $395 million.

"Then there are the people who ask, 'Why can't Johnny read?'" Siegel noted.

Juvenile Sales Up

"But juvenile book sales have increased faster than adult sales."

Juveniles totaled $37 million in 1929 and $95 million in 1954, an increase of 157 per cent. During the same period adult book sales increased 57 per cent — from $73 million to $115 million.

The book boom is also reflected in library circulation figures.

Nordica Fenneman, chief of the Chicago Public Library's general circulation, reported total circulation of 8,756,459 books last year, an increase of 218,135 volumes over 1955.

A good portion of these increases can be attributed to population growth, Siegel conceded, and people generally don't read as much as they should.

Not As Much

"But they're still reading," he said, "despite TV and the rigors of suburban life. Maybe a man wrestling with his garden or his storm windows doesn't read as much as he once did, but if he ever was a reader he still is."

Siegel said TV had a "chaotic effect" on book sales when the monster was an infant with only a 10-inch eye.

"But the novelty wore off, people became more discriminating about what programs they watched, and soon they were back in the bookstores again," Siegel said.

"Most of them don't read as much as they did in the pre-TV era, but they haven't exactly forgotten the alphabet."

Payment Too Late

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP) — A former resident has sent $1 to a now defunct bus firm to cover the cost of fares she didn't pay in the past by sneaking past the fare box. The woman wrote she used to think it was "funny" to avoid paying her fare but has since become a "Christian who feels I must make amends for the injustices I have done in my life."

Award Fastest Flyer

Hahn, Germany (UP)—Lt. Col. Frank K. Everest will return to the United States next month to accept a U.S. Chamber of Commerce award as one of the 10 "great living Americans." The award recognizes his feat of flying faster than any other living man, 1,900 miles per hour in a Bell X2 rocket ship.

Trap Is Baited

Budget-cutters Must Face Facts

WASHINGTON (UP)— A House Appropriations subcommittee said today the only way to cut the budget is to stop setting up new federal projects.

It rejected administration and Hoover Commission proposals to give Congress a tighter control over spending as merely "magic devices" that won't work.

The subcommittee called on would-be budget-cutters to face the "facts."

"Each year new programs and projects are authorized and old programs are often extended and expanded," it said.

"In contrast, seldom are existing programs and activities deauthorized. The cumulative effect is increasing demands on the federal treasury."

The economy-minded House Wednesday passed its fourth "trimmed" appropriations bill of the current session. The lawmakers chopped more than a half billion dollars from a $5.9 billion request for operating 18 government agencies including the Civil Defense and Veterans administrations.

Other congressional news:

Civil Service: Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) of the Senate Civil Service Committee said he will sponsor a bill to reduce federal employment by 300,000. He said this would save $1 billion annually without cutting into essential services or firing career employes. The bill would allow the government to replace only one employe for every four who leave during fiscal 1958.

Agriculture: The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a bill giving the administration the right to barter farm surpluses to Iron Curtain satellites. The measure also increases from $3 billion to $4 billion the authority for selling farm surpluses to friendly nations.

Foreign Policy: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee underwent quizzing from a group of 35 Christian youth leaders on the moral foundations of U.S. foreign policy. The youngsters, national leaders of the United Christian Youth Movement, were brought here by the National Council of Churches.

Spain: The House passed a resolution calling on the State Department to continue its efforts to bring Spain into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The resolution — expressing the sense of Congress and not legally binding—was sent to the Senate.

Atomic Test In United States During July

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation will undergo a hypothetical attack from nuclear bombs of from 20 kilotons to 20 megatons in the fourth annual "Operation Alert" in July.

The Civil Defense Administration announced Tuesday the program will be held in three stages this year and will be somewhat altered. Government agencies will not move to relocation sites as they have in the past. And the nature and extent of the simulated attack or the cities involved will not be published in advance.

The three phases of the exercises this year will be:

July 8-12: Rehearsal by local and state civil defense directors and the public in evacuation plans and other readiness activities.

July 12-14: Assumed nuclear attacks on U.S. cities.

July 15-19: Survival action period.

Four Killed When Bomb Explodes

TREVISO, Italy (UP) — Four persons, including two children, were killed here when a wartime bomb exploded, police said today.

Armando Nicoletti, 36, found the German-make bomb while digging on his farm. He, and his two children and another farmer started playing with it Wednesday, causing it to explode, police said.

FORD PLANT BLAST GOT HIM — A workman injured in an explosion at Ford's River Rouge plant in Dearborn, Mich., is given medical treatment. Twenty-six were injured when the explosion went off, in the paint drying oven of the frame and cold heading building. One of the 26 died of critical burns the next day.

King-sized Toaster

CHICAGO (UP)—Residents of Chicago's North Side awoke today to the smell of toasted marshmallows. About 24,000 pounds of the ednesday in a fire at the Curtis Candy Co.

Church School Group Hears Program Here

The Church School Association of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church met in the Parish House Tuesday evening for its March meeting. Miss Jean Rak was the leader, using as her topic, "Why Jesus Was a Good Teacher."

Her program was divided into two parts, the first, an explanation aimed at giving insights from the life of Christ for teaching, the second, a film on the Life of Christ. She concluded her program with a prayer.

Edward Boes was in charge of the business session in the absence of Mr. Ulander, who is ill. Several reports were presented from various committees and department heads.

Mrs. Alice Crossland gave a complete report on the Lutherlyn Camp applications. The association voted to set aside May 5 as Lutherlyn Day.

Auxiliary Police Corps Planning Campaign Here

The West Newton Auxiliary Police Corps has decided to conduct a "Be Prepared for Accidents" campaign.

Plans for the campaign, which is designed to educate residents in protective procedures in case of emergency, were completed at a rcent meeting of the corps.

In the near future corps members will visit every home in the community to present a first aid chart listing approved procedures for dealing with various types of accidents. The visitors will also offer assistance in checking first aid supplies.

The Auxiliary hopes the campaign will alert the community to the importance of being prepared for emergencies.

The 22 members concluded the meeting by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Crucial Cairo Talks Under Way

Another Crisis Is Reported

By UNITED PRESS

UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold today began five days of crucial talks in Cairo that may determine the fate of the Suez Canal and the question of war or peace in the Middle East.

Even as he conferred with President Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Egyptian officials a new crisis struck. Syria was reported in political turmoil with the army purging pro-Soviet strongman Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, one of the nation's three dictators.

Western diplomatic sources in Cairo were pessimistic over Hammarskjold's chances of success and said the canal situation was right back where it was last October when Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt.

Israelis Predict Failure

Israeli officials in Jerusalem predicted failure of the Hammarskjold mission and said Hammarskjold could not get Nasser to renounce Egypt's state of belligerency with Israel. And unless he renounces belligerency there can be no more compromise with Israel's security, the sources said.

Western diplomats said Nasser's proposals on the canal were a far as ever from Western demands for internalization checks on canal operation and demands for 50 per cent of the tolls to go to an international bank.

It was the same deadlock that touched off the Tripartite invasion last October.

Hammarskjold also is in search of measures to seal the borders between Israel and Egypt, to solve the crisis over Gaza and over shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba. Egypt and Saudi Arabia have declared the gulf closed to Israeli shipping; Israel says it will fight if its ships are hindered.

Ben-Gurion Fears War

Nasser already had won a major victory over the Gaza question. His civil administrators were back in the strip despite earlier Israeli warnings.

Diplomatic sources said Hammarskjold's efforts to set up a buffer zone between Israel and Egypt might break down over Israeli refusal to permit UNEF troops to be stationed in Israel. UNEF troops today were spread out on a thin line between Gaza and Israel, but on the Gaza side of the border.

Israeli officials said the government would not invite Hammarskjold to Jerusalem; that it would be his own decision whether to talk with Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Ben-Gurion meanwhile disclosed that he withdrew his troops from Egyptian territory because he feared UN sanctions would cut off Israel's arms supplies.

In a letter to Israel's border settlements he said another Arab-Israeli war might break out within a couple of years if not sooner and that Israel must ensure a free supply of arms.

Urge Use of Radar to Cut Down Accidents

HARRISBURG (UP)—Representatives of Pennsylvania's new car dealers suggest that the use of radar be legalized in Pennsylvania as part of a three point program to cut down traffic accidents.

The Pennsylvania Automotive Association's Safety Committee also urged adoption by the Interstate Commerce Commission of a program calling for a nationwide network of authorized ICC inspection stations to inspect on a semiannual basis every commercial motor vehicle engaged in interstate commerce.

The state Revenue Department last Feb. 20 forwarded such a proposal to the ICC in a move to supplement traffic safety and reduce the number of "runaway" truck accidents.

The third PAA proposal would require emergency warning devices for passenger cars to be used at the scene when a motor vehicle is disabled, to warn oncoming traffic.

The radar proposal was adopted after O. D. Shipley, director of the state Bureau of Highway Safety, told the group that use of radar "has a terrific psychological effect in taking the lead out of the foot on the pedal."

The committee said it would support legislation to give radar to organized police forces — the Pennsylvania state police and police forces in cities, townships, boroughs and towns.

'Dead' End Street

BUTLER, N.J. (UP)—Mrs. Rita Fallon complained to police that living on a dead-end street is no reason her driveway should look like a cemetery. Mrs. Fallon said hearses and funeral cars have been using her driveway for turning around when returning from a nearby cemetery.

DENIES 'SUEZ' — C. D. Jackson, former psycological warfare adviser to President Eisenhower, denies before the Senate foreign relations committee in Washington that he ever said the U. S. deliberately provoked the Suez crisis to force a showdown with Russia.

Admitted Slayer Is Questioned On Other Crimes

BUTLER, Pa. (UP) —Robert Talley Davis, 29, confessed kidnaper and rapist, will be taken today to Kittanning to be charged formally with murder of Mrs. Emily Shupe Foster.

The Pittsburgh ex-convict has admitted he beat the 25-year-old expectant mother with a tire iron in front of the garage of her home at Leechburg last Jan. 30. Mrs. Foster died in her husband's arms as they waited on the doorstep of their home for medical aid.

Davis re-enacted the crime for state police Tuesday night.

It was the latest in a series of confessions by the Negro prison escapee to crimes of robbery, holdup, assault and battery, kidnaping and rape. He already has been charged at hearings held in Pittsburgh. McKees Rocks and New Kensington.

After his arraignment at Kittanning he will be returned to the Allegheny County Jail at Pittsburgh for questioning in other unsolved crimes.

State Police Capt. Eugene L. Fontaine credited Sgt. James Barger and Cpl. Metro Poloskey of the state police and Charles McInerney of the Allegheny County Crime Laboratory with solving the Foster slaying.

Roy Adkins, deputy warden of the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville, said Davis escaped from a prison road camp June 8, 1955, while serving a 1-10 year term for grand larceny.

Judge Rejects $20 Allowances for Boys

CHICAGO (UP)—Superior Court Judge Joseph A. Pope rejected $20 weekly allowances for two young boys in a divorce action.

He said such an allowance would "put a lot of other parents on the spot, and I happen to be one of them." The mother, Mrs. John Schwartz, 41, said her sons needed a lot of money because they have expensive hobbies.

The judge, in his decision Wednesday, set the allowances at $10 per week for one of the boys and $12.50 for his older brother.

Stassen Is Buying Property in State

WASHINGTON (UP)—Presidential Adviser Harold E. Stassen, who is reported planning to run for governor of Pennsylvania next year, is buying property near Valley Forge, Pa.

The move may be preliminary to a possible campaign to win the Republican nomination for governor. Informed sources have said Stassen plans to resign as disarmament adviser to President Eisenhower early next year and move to Pennsylvania.

Used Car Dealer Guilty of Murder

PATERSON, N.J. (UP)—A 63-year-old Jersey City used car dealer was convicted Wednesday of second degree murder in the gangland slaying of a rival bootlegger 28 years ago

A jury deliberated more than four hours before returning a verdict against James (Cockeye) O'Leary, an ex-convict and the only known survivor of four prohibition era hoodlums indicted in 1929 for the slaying of Alex (Schmutzy) Szabo.

25 Natives Hanged For Series of Raids

PRETORIA. SOUTH Africa (UP) — South African authorities hanged 25 natives from six scaffolds here today while their relatives sent up a great tribal wail of mourning from outside the prison walls.

It all took just 35 minutes.

The 25 natives were hanged for taking part in a series of raids at Dagga in Natal last year in which five policemen were clubbed to death.

Two Pittsburgh Police Held on Assault Charge

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Two city patrolmen have been suspended and held for the grand jury in connection with an alleged assault on a woman.

A police lieutenant also was suspended pending the filing of a charge of subornation of perjury.

Mrs. Eileen Tomacek, 30, mother of two children, identified Patrolman Louis Chiarelli, 30, Wednesday as the officer who allegedly attacked her in a police car early Sunday. She said Patrolman George W. Smith, 28, was present at the time.

Both men were held on morals charges by Magistrate William E. Redmond and released on $4,000 bond each.

Mrs. Tomacek accused Acting Lt. Michael Stipanovich of suggesting she drop charges against the officers to avoid the "disgrace and publicity." His suspension was ordered by Police Superintendent James W. Slusser pending outcome of the case.

It was the second time Redmond had held the patrolmen for the grand jury. Judge Clarence B. Nixon ordered them freed Monday because of the vagueness of Mrs. Tomacek's testimony. She was unable to identify the officers at the hearing before Nixon.

Aussies Cut Draft

CANBERRA, Australia (UP) — The Australian government has proposed to reduce its army draft by 17,000 men and to suspend drafts into the navy and air force, informed sources said today.

Quarter Billion To Be Spent on Area Highways

PITTSBURGH (UP) — District State Highways Dept. Engineer Leonard J. Curran has estimated that about 75 miles of federal interstate system highways planned for the Pittsburgh area in the next 13 years will cost more than a quarter billion dollars.

Curran based his estimate on preliminary highway department surveys showing the cost of building the road network would cost between $3 and $4 million per mile.

Curran outlined his views on the project last night in an address before the Western Pennsylvania Chapter of the Society of Industrial Realtors.

The engineer admitted his estimate was high but said the construction would be "much higher" than the anticipated national average because of the hilly terrain.

Interstate roads planned for the area include completion of the Penn-Lincoln Parkway and an extension east to the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a north-south spur from Washington, Pa., to the Turnpike at Warrandale and a spur leading north from downtown Pittsburgh.

The speaker said aerial studies charting the general routes for the roads have been made at the request of the highways department

Linde Talks Are Continuing

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Federal mediators meet with both sides today for the fourth consecutive day in a concentrated effort to end a seven-week strike against Linde Air Products Co., makers of liquid oxygen for the steel industry.

The mediators met several hours Wednesday with negotiators for the company and the AFL-CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers but declined comment on the talks.

Line employes, who have turned down a wage increase offer of 12 cents an hour and are demanding 20 cents, are on strike at plants in Kittanning and Essington, Pa., Moundsville, W. Va., Tonawanda, N.Y., and Youngstown, Ohio.

State Draft Call Is 875 for May

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Selective Service headquarters announced today that the May draft call for Pennsylvania is 875 men, all of whom must be at least 22 years of age.

The quota is the state's share of a national class of 13,000 and is 22 under the April call.

BENEFACTRESS — Mrs. Perle Mesta hugs Miss Oka Yang Ching, 19, in Los Angeles on the Korean girl's arrival in the U. S. as one of the 18 foreign students whose education is being sponsored by Mrs Mesta. Miss Chang is a pianist. She will study at the Sherwood Music school in Chicago.

Admiral to Retire

LON BEACH, Calif. (UP)—Rear Adm. Marion Emerson Murphy, 57, commander of the Pacific Fleet Mine Force, said today he plans to retire from active duty May 1.

American Window Glass Merger

PITTSBURGH (UP)— American Window Glass Co. announced today it will join with Saint Gobain of Paris, world's oldest producer of plate glass, to form a new firm in the United States.

Details of the proposed merger were contained in American's annual report to stockholders.

(American Window Glass formerly operated a plant in Belle Vernon. It has a plant in Jeannette.)

Under terms of an agreement reached after several months of negotiation, the Blue Ridge Glass Corp., Kingsport, Tenn., wholly owned subsidiary of Saint Gobain and a producer of rolled and structural glass, would combine with American, which operates three sheet glass plants and one safety glass laminating plant in the United States.

Otto G. Schwenk, president of American, said the new company proposes to build a modern plate glass facility in this country, using production techniques of Saint Gobain, one of the largest producers of plate glass.

Schwenk pointed out the absence of plate glass from American's line of products limited its earnings. He said the proposed plant would give the new company manufacturing facilities for a complete line of flat glass products.

The market for plate glass in this country is estimated at 750 million square feet, or $450 million a year.

Schwenk said the merger with Saint Gobain is subject to approval of French and U.S. government agencies.

American reported 1956 sales and earnings of $23 million and $1,126,168, respectively, both up slightly over 1955.

Mags Raise Price

NEW YORK (UP)—Newsweek and Time magazines announced Wednesday they will raise their single copy prices from 20 to 25 cents because of rising paper and production costs. The Newsweek increase takes effect with the April 1 issue. Time will raise its price with the April 15 issue.

W.R.H. Patterson Named For Reelection by PTA

Large Crowd Attends Session At High School

There were about 300 persons in attendance last night at a meeting of the Monessen Parent Teacher Association in the auditorium of the High School. A business session and unusual program highlighted the session conducted by President W. R. H Patterson.

Florine Komatz read the PTA prayer and the meeting was preceded by an organ recital by Marla Thur.

Mrs. Matt Zoretich reported on a meeting of the executive board and Alfred Hazelbaker presented the following slate of officers in behalf of the nominating committee:

Patterson, president: Mrs. Zoretich, first vice president; Mrs. John Stieska, second; Mrs. Michael Buchar, treasurer: Mrs. Everett Vernacinni, financial secretary; Mrs. John Dragan, recording secretary and Michael Skirpan, Jr., corresponding secretary. Election will be held at next meeting.

The program began with a debate, "Should There Be Employment of School Age Youth" presented by the High School debate team. Jean Buchar and Bill Lear presented their points for the affirmative and Florine Komatz and Karen Duda spoke in behalf of the negative. A question and answer period followed. This team trained by Carolyn Sedey has been active throughout the school term in district student activities.

Trumpet Selections

Charles Winfield played two trumpet selections, "September Song" and "Toy Trumpet".

The next part of the program was in the form of a fashion show in which 95 children and adults took part The apparel modeled was made by the women who attend the adult evening sewing classes taught by Mrs. Armand Niccolai.

The instructor explained the procedure of this course during which three classes are conducted for a 30-week period with each member attending one two hour class weekly. The classes are sponsored by the Monessen School District

The exhibit included all types of children's wear for both boys and girls as well as suits, coats, wear and party dresses. Each student prepared a written description of her attire and these were read by Ruth J. Hornbake

Potted plants and lighted tapers decorated the cafeteria tables for the serving of luncheon by the Washington homeroom mothers, Mrs. Wayne Kalvesmaki, building chairman; Mrs. Vilho Yoki, hospital chairman, Mrs. Edward Musial, membership chairman, Mrs Andrew Kurey, Mrs. George Petters, Mrs. Columbus DeAngelis, Mrs. Andrew Lucas, Mrs. Arnold Beneccio, Mrs. Felton Brown, Mrs. Frank Destefano, Mrs. Eino Kilpela, Mrs Philip Minniti, Mrs. Lynn Hartbarger, Mrs Patsy Cornelia, Mrs. Jack Battalia and Mrs. Lawrence Elyanich.

A "bring a friend" meeting is planned for April.

Six Assistant Governors Rapped By George Bloom

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I Bloom today rapped as "another layer of red tape" a proposal to authorize Pennsylvania's governors to appoint up to six administrative assistants.

The recommendation was made this week by Gov. George M Leader's Commission on Governmental Reorganization, which said the assistants could act as coordinators for related state agencies

"Whoever proposed the creation of six assistant governors in this state exhibits a very low opinion of the abilities of Governor Leader's cabinet." Bloom said in a statement. "If the governor picks competent men to head his departments and has confidence that they know their jobs, there is no need for six supernumeraries to keep an eye on what they do."

K of C Plans Communion Breakfast on Mar. 31

Monessen Countil Knights of Columbus 954 will hold a communion breakfast on Sunday, Mar. 31, after attending the 8 a. m. mass at St. Cajetan R C. Church

Louis L. Manderino was appointed chairman for the event, which was planned at a meeting held by the council last night at the Elks Home on Seventh street.

Grand Knight Louis J. Smith presided at the session and after the opening ode was sung there were reports by Julius Treater.

Joseph J Salvino was elected a member of the Monessen Council.

A first degree is being planned by Monessen Council in the near future and plans were also discussed for celebrating the 75th anniversary of the organization on March 29.

A ping pong tournament is being planned and members interested should contact Michael Maisano.

Sgt. Frank J. Wallace, who is home on leave from the air force, spoke briefly on his experience in the South Pacific area.

Steve Gursky was guest speaker and discussed the insurance program available to members of the order.

Reno Mancini won the evening award and there was no social because of the Lenten season. Meetings during Lent do not begin until 8:30

A Bentleyville numbers figure, Albert Pauline, who was sentenced a month ago to serve first 10 months and later two months, walked out of Washingtoon County jail yesterday after serving only 28 days.

He was released when his first sentence was reduced from two months to one month by Judge George T. Cummins under written authorization from President Judge Roy I. Carson.

Judge Carson presided at the trial of Pauline and four others in February, a trial that resulted in the release of two defendants and an order to the jury to find Pauline and the remaining two guilty.

At the time, Pauline, presumably because of his criminal record, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and serve 10 months in jail, but Judge Carson reduced the time to two months if the fine and costs were paid. That was February 20.

Judge Carson is vacationing in Florida. In the order changing the sentence signed by Judge Cummins yesterday, the latter noted that his action was "by the authority vested in me by letter received from Judge Carson dated March 14."

It is customary in the local courts for the particular judge who handled the trial or plea in a criminal case also to handle any subsequent actions growing out of the particular case which would have held Pauline's case under Judge Carson's jurisdiction except for the letter to Judge Cummins.

It is also a general rule that the sentence in a criminal case can be changed during the same term of court in which it is meted out.

Pauline, along with Stanley Trasatti, Gilbert Joseph, John Sulivan and John Hall, were arrested last Dec. 6 in a State Police raid on the Bentleyville Amusement Co. building where Trasatti operated a cigaret and music box business.

Trasatti and Hall were ordered freed by Judge Carson for lack of evidence and Joseph and Sullivan paid fines after being found guilty.

The office of Clerk of Courts John Good reported that Pauline's $500 fine and costs had been paid "several weeks ago."

County Planning Group Proposed For Washington

The Washington County Boroughs Association favors the appointment of a county planning commission, it was announced at a meeting of the group last night in Bentleyville.

Jerome Lubin, planner on the staff of the Allegheny County Redevelopment Authority, and August L. Sismondo, of Charleroi, assistant county solicitor, both spoke on commission plans.

Several boroughs now have local commissions and are in various stages of planning and development, including Roscoe, Donora, Burgettstown and Canonsburg.

Named to the redevelopment, planning and zoning committee were Andrew Blazanchi, of Canonsburg; Mrs. Inez Donaldson, of Dunlevy; John Marasovich and Albert Pipik, both of Donora; Arco DiNardo, of Bentleyville; Edward Stotha, of Centerville and Alex Luckasevic, of Charleroi

Representatives from 20 boroughs attended the meeting. They were from Allenport, Bentleyville, Brownsville, Burgettstown, Canonsburg, Centerville, Charleroi, Cokeburg, Donora, Dunlevy, Elco, Ellsworth, Long Branch, New Eagle, Newell, North Charleroi, Perryopolis, Roscoe, Stockdale and West Brownsville.

The next meeting will be held at Dunlevy on April 17.

Driver Hurt in Ambridge Crash

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (UP) — William Midock, 27, of the Beyersdale Hotel, Baden, Pa., suffered a possible skull fracture Wednesday night when his automobile struck the rear of a trailer-truck on Constitution Blvd near here.

He was listed in fair condition at Sewickley Valley Hospital. Police said the truck was driven by Ernest Matthews, of Canonsburg, who was not hurt.

Dead or Alive

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)— The city personnel department has decided to change the wording of an advertisement for a man to collect live and dead animals. The earlier ad, which got no response, advertised for an "animal collector, dead or alive."

Nathan Milstein, Violinist, Plays At Syria Mosque

Nathan Milstein, considered by many to be the "master violinist" of the age, returns to Pittsburgh tomorrow and Saturday for concert appearances with William Steinberg and the famed Pittsburgh Orchestra at Syria Mosque.

Milstein will play Dvorak's inspiring Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, in a minor on a program which includes works by Pittsburgh's Clifford Taylor, Igor Stravinsky, and Bach as arranged by Weiner.

In recent years, Milstein and his expressive virtuosity have become closely associated with the Pittsburgh Orchestra. Both record exclusively for Capitol and four major works have been recorded by the excellent combination.

In addition, Milstein has made annual concert appearances with the Pittsburgh Orchestra both in Pittsburgh and in other cities. In Lexington, Ky, March 11, Milstein and the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra played before 9,000 concert-goers. Later this season, Milstein and the orchestra have scheduled two recording sessions at Syria Mosque with the results of these collaborations to be released within the year.

Claim State Is Spending Too Much for Heat

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee charged today that the Commonwealth is spending more than necessary in the heating of its buildings.

Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) said that the joint Senate and House appropriations committees planned to ask the Property and Supplies Department to "explain exorbitant increases in the costs of coal purchased for state institutions."

"Wood said that during a budget hearing for the state Military Affairs Department it was disclosed that costs of coal have gone up as much as 50 per cent over estimates made a year ago and that the agency is taking funds allocated for other purposes to heat armories.

"When the committee inquired why these costs have increased so much," Wood said, "the members were informed that the state, instead of buying a full year's supply as has been customary for years, bought only 25 per cent of needs last fall and the other 75 per cent in mid-winter when coal prices are normally at their highest point."

Methodist Church Conference Held Here Yesterday

Dr. William Hogg, McKeesport district superintendent of Methodist churches, conducted the fourty quarterly conference in the Fayette City Church last evening.

The members enjoyed a dinner at 6:30 followed by group singing led by Mrs. James Stathers. The Rev. Harry W. Beveridge, church pastor, presented Dr. Hogg, who gave a brief devotional talk on Lent and the coming of Spring.

Reports were given by the heads of all departments. Mrs. Walter Ridgway was renamed recording secretary; Edwin Hindmarsh, treasurer and Ray Ermlich, bookkeeper. Edward Shook was named chairman of the social affairs committee.

The church year will end May 1 and the annual conference will be held later that month in Connellsville.

Three Delegates Are Named by Local Kiwanis

Three delegates will be sent by Monessen Kiwanis Club to the international convention in Atlantic City in June.

They are Charles Penwick, president, Stephen Spontak and Robert Pettigrew, who were named at the Tuesday evening dinner meeting in the Slovak Home.

Final plans were completed for the testimonial dinner for Pennsylvania District Governor Bill Sutter to be held April 30, at the Slovak Home. Eleven other clubs will take part in this activity.

An inter-club meeting will be held with the Snowden Township Club on March 26 and several local members will attend.

Edward Stem, a prospective member, was a guest of Penwick.

Program Chairman Spontak presented a color film, "Sports in the Southwest".

Local Persons Complete CD Course Here

Nineteen local persons completed the special Civil Defense welfare course last evening in the Fayette City Community Center. They are:

Pauline Yetsconish, Mildred Onufer, Fred Weightman, Jerome Williams, Mrs. Jerome Williams, Mrs. James Eley, Lottie Legg, Mrs. George Roy, Mrs. Howard Opfar, Benn Scott, Helen Holmes, Margaret Rainey, Minnie Brown, Mrs. Bernard Sarra, Mrs. Clarence Young, Mrs. Joseph Butler, Mrs. Frank McKenna, Evelyn Cramer and Mrs. Roy Mossburg.

The group will represent six local churches at which mass care centers will be established in case of necessity.

The course was given by Mrs. Rockwell, of Uniontown, and four others.

Care centers were stressed in the program. Instruction in registration was given so as to better assure families being brought back together again following disasters.

First aid courses are now going into the fifth week. Classes are held Tuesday evenings in the club rooms of the Community Center. Ralph Miller and Philip Karcesky are in charge of the CD program.

Additional training is being taken by auxiliary police and firemen.

Mr. and Mrs. Howes, former local residents, were observing their 50th wedding anniversary.

Presbyterian Class To Meet Tomorrow

The Elizabeth M. Hackett class of the First Presbyterian Church will meet tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. in the church social rooms.

Mrs. George Moody, president, will conduct the meeting.

Chiang Warns not to Relax Red Embargo

By ROBERT BROWN

TAIPEI (UP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek warned the United States and Britain today they "will be helping to defeat themselves" if they relax the strategic goods embargo against Communist China.

The Nationalist Chinese president told United Press in an exclusive interview that any ease-up on the embargo "would be helping the Chinese Communists pull their chestnuts out of the fire."

Chiang termed Communist peace rumors "groundless" and denied Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's charge that the United States has turned Formosa into a dependency.

"Their (the Communist) idea is to arouse anti-American feelings among Chinese on the mainland," Chiang said.

Reds Need Help

He said Communist China "is in desperate need of help. They are just now beginning to feel the effects of the embargo that began during the Korean War."

Chiang hoped that President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, meeting at Bermuda, would realize "that any relaxation now would undo all that we have accomplished in six years of the embargo"

Britain's desire to relax the ban and promote trade with Red China is one of the points which Macmillan reportedly wants to discuss with Eisenhower.

But Chiang said if the Western powers do this "it will help the Communists to survive. They will be playing into the Communists' hands and will be helping to defeat themselves."

Chiang, speaking through an interpreter, said the very existence of his Nationalist government on this island stronghold "is a mortal threat to the Communists. They feel it, but can do nothing about it."

Spread Groundless Rumors

"They are spreading groundless rumors (of peace talks with Formosa. These rumors are not true. They are designed to quiet the people on the mainland before whom the Communists have been dangling the hope that they will 'liberate' Taiwan (Formosa)."

Asked about Chou's charge that the United States had made Formosa a dependency, Chiang laughed and said: "It is to confuse the world about the real situation."

Then he added: "It also is to confuse the people on the mainland. The Communists had to use some kind of a story to explain away their failure to 'liberate' Taiwan."

Beats Drums for Secret Product

WASHINGTON (UP) — Richard E. Krafve is a man beating the drums for a product so secret only 500 people know what it will look like.

The product is the new Edsel automobile, Ford's forthcoming challenge in the medium-priced automotive field. Krafve, general manager and vice president of the Edsel Division, is busy lining up the 1,200 dealers who will originally distribute the new car.

"We've received more than 2,800 applications for dealerships," Krafve told the United Press in an interview. "But we're not waiting for people to come to us — we're asking banks and business leaders to recommend prospective dealers, too."

Debut In Fall

The Edsel, named for the son of the company's founder, will be introduced sometime next fall.

"We have a target date but we can't reveal it yet," Krafve added. "There are too many things we might trip over before we arrive at a definite date."

The slim, baldish executive did reveal these few things about the new car whose styling has been revealed only to top Ford officials.

—It will sell in four price brackets — the Ranger, Pacer, Corsair and Citation, the latter being the most expensive. Wheelbase will vary among these models.

—It will be "distinctively but not radically-styled." (You'll be able to tell it's an Edsel from any angle 'you look at it," Krafve added.)

—Mechanically, some of its parts will be interchangeable with the Lincoln, Ford and Mercury. The Edsel generally will rank between the Lincoln and Mercury in price.

—Edsel prototypes have been undergoing tests for at least 14 months; the car itself was first conceived in 1954, when preliminary styling sketches were made.

Present plans call for at least 200,000 Edsel units a year, produced in five plants located in Mahwah, N.J.; Somerville, Mass.; Wayne, Mich.; Louisville, Ky., and Milpitas, Calif. A second West Coast plant, in the Los Angeles area, will be picked in the near future.

The Somerville plant will turn out the Citation and Corsair models exclusively. The other assembly facilities will continue to build Fords or Mercuries along with the Edsel.

Civic Club, Woman's Club Hear Glee Club of CSTC

An evening of music provided the program Tuesday when members of the Belle Vernon Woman's Club were entertained by the Tuesday Evening Civic Club in the auditorium of Vernon Junior High School.

Mrs. Anthony Jedrziewski, president of the hostess club, extended a greeting and the opening prayer was by Mrs. Donald Pender.

Program chairman, Mrs. Alex R. Newell, presented members of the California State Teachers College Men's Glee Club and their director, E. E. Halstead and they were featured in a variety program which was enthusiastically received.

The program began with the California Alma Mater, followed by "The Carnival Masquerade" with Don Cochenour as soloist. Gary Kennedy and Grant McDonald and the chorus were featured in a novelty, "A Man's Best Friend".

Dale Osborne and John Snyder were soloists for the spiritual, "Set Down Servant" and the Glee Club sang "Kentucky Babe" and "Battle of Jericho". James Pudlo and James Bissell were featured in a novelty duet.

The Glee Club sang "Good Old Mountain Dew" with James Pudlo and Gordon Schuckers, soloists, "The Cider Song", "Belinda" with Charles Oiesen as soloist and "Dogface Soldier".

The final two Glee Club selections were "Prelude in C. Sharp Minor" and "The Jolly Roger".

Specialties were interwoven through the musical presentation and guest soloist, Janice Ballinger, sang "Mr. Wonderful" and "Almost Like Being in Love".

Ray Gladden, baritone, and the Varsity Four were both very well received in their presentations. Gladden sang "Lift Up Thine Eyes" and "One Alone". The Varsity Four, Dale Osborne, John Celiani, Grant Donald and Gordon Schuckers coached by William Dovenspike sang "Somebody Loves Me", "Happiness Street", "Taking A Chance on Love" and "Mississippi Mud".

Accompanist for the Glee Club was Lucille Musial, of Monessen.

After the program Mrs. Jedrziewski asked for volunteers from both clubs to assist in making the house to house campaign for the Red Cross.

Announcement was also made of the Spring Meeting of the Westmoreland County Federation of Women's Clubs at Mountain View Hotel on April 11.

Mrs. Newell announced that the April 2 meeting of the Civic Club will be held at the West Penn Power Co. building in Charleroi.

Refreshments were served from a tea table centered with an arrangement of driftwood, forsythia and pussy willows with tall lighted yellow tapers. Floral arrangements were used as centers for the individual tables.

In charge were members of the social committee, Mrs. Charles Berkhouse, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. Harold Heffner, Mrs. William Vizza, Bernice Turney, Mrs. Robert Rae, Mrs. Joseph Brisbane, Mrs. Irwin Lacy, Mrs. William Fagan, Mrs. George Fabian, Mrs. William Mascara, Mrs. Herman Blair, Mrs. Ray McClintock, Mrs. Clarence Grant and Mrs. Arthur Reed.

Moose Women Hold Routine Meeting Here

Senior Regent Naomi Brizzi conducted the Tuesday evening business session for the Belle Vernon Women of the Moose in the lodge rooms. The new emblems to be worn by each of the chairmen during the rituals were worn for the first time.

Chaplain Irene Steinmiller gave the opening prayer and Acting Junior Regent Edith Thot led in the pledge.

Routine business was discussed and roll called. A social meeting was planned for April 2 with Margaret Thot, homemaking chairman. In charge of the social program Mrs. Brizzi will bake the birthday cake and the birthday table will be set by Helen Yanko.

An executive meeting will be held at 7 o'clock.

Louise Nichols was the winner of the special award.

Bellmar Trio on Amateur Program

The Bellmar Senior Trio comprised of Carla Butler, Elva Corbin and Marjeanne Clark will appear on Wilkins Amateur hour on Sunday over WDTV television station at 6 o'clock.

The girls have appeared on a number of district programs and will sing "Moonlight in Vermont" for their selection.

Regulars Class Plans Banquet; Names Committee

Mrs. Julia Leitch, president, was in charge of the Monday evening meeting of the Regulars Class of the First Presbyterian Church in the church social rooms.

The opening devotional services were conducted by Mrs. Anna May Harsha.

Plans were announced for a chicken pie sale to be held at the church on March 27 and 28.

The annual Mother-Daughter banquet was discussed and the following committees were appointed to arrange the affair, Mrs. Inez Patterson and Mrs. Dorothy Beall, dinner arrangements; Mrs. Ann Fee and Mrs. Myrtle Johnson, entertainment committee.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs Myrtle Crawford was observed.

Luncheon was served by a committee composed of Ann Diedrich, Margaret Stark, Edith Carson, Dorothy Beall and Anna May Harsha. A St. Patrick's Day theme was used in the serving.

Sons of Italy Auxiliary Meets

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Sons of Italy met at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Conn, of Wood street, on Tuesday evening for a regular business session, which was conducted by the president, Mrs. M. Pesi.

The social hour which followed was in the form of a birthday party honoring Mrs. Conn. She was presented with a gift and card by the group.

Luncheon was served along with a decorated birthday cake.

Card Club Meets At Hoyes Home

Court of Awards Held for Triad Area Scouts, Brownies

A Court of Awards was held in the Marion Junior High School auditorium for Girl Scouts and Brownies of the Triad Area. Mrs. Georgina Supertisky served as program chairman for the evening. She is Triad president.

Mrs. Peg DePaolo, president of the Triad Leaders Club, gave a reading explaining the meaning of the merit badge after the formal opening.

Mrs. Superfisky was in charge of the badge awards. Members of Troop 40 receiving badges were Nancy Davis, Joyce Baron, Mary Lois Barger, Evelyn Perun, Barbara Renkey, Claudette Poland. Mrs. Mary Sedlak is the troop leader recently replacing Mrs. Ethel Blacka.

Girls of Troop 11 under the leadership of Mary Lou Renkey, who received awards were Candy DiBuono, Patti Bair and Frances Weiss Mrs. Blacka was also formerly leader of this troop.

Badges were presented to Sandra Dudgeon, Judy Paholski, Nancy Taylor, Phyllis Superfisky, Carol Serwinski and Louise Waite of Mrs. DePaolo's Troop 44.

Millicent Thrasher and Lavonne Dupree earned merit awards under the leadership of Mrs. DePaolo and are now members of Mrs. Cora Thrasher's new troop.

Troop 29 of Jefferson Township with Sara Yakim as leader had the following members receiving awards, Mary Lou McMillen, Georgetta McCrory, Evonne McCrory, Caroline Kohoszha, Betty Jane Hough, Marilyn Hawker and Donna Lee Hutchison.

Lynnwood Troop 48 girls getting awards were Terianne Fecsen, Marlene Braddock, Mary Ellen Miller, Mary Lois Sadler and Jane Salay. Mrs. Dorothy Rex is leader. Troop 56 Scouts earning badges under the direction of Mrs. Rex were Bernadette Baron, Patty Piersol, Helen Superfisky and Memory Garner.

The program concluded with the singing of "It's A Good Thing to Be A Girl Scout" and the audience joined in the "unbroken circle" as Taps were sung.

The program was then turned over to seven Senior Scouts, who attended the Round-Up in Michigan last summer. The girls wore their official uniforms and gave an outline of their activities and a financial report on the expense of the trip paid by the individual councils.

In the senior group present were Ella Byers, of Belle Vernon.

In charge of the Court of Awards were Mrs. Dorothy Hawk, Triad organization chairman, Mrs. DePaolo, Mrs. Agnes Heifer and Mrs Superfisky.

Six of every 10 working women are married.

Three of every 10 married women hold jobs.

Women put in more than one-fourth of "man-hours" worked.

Two of every five mothers with school children are in labor force.

Five of every 10 working women are over 40.

One-fifth of U. S. income — $42 billion — is earned by jobholding women.

Forty per cent of American women — 28,000,000 — work sometime every year.

ONE-THIRD OF GALS OVER 14 IN LABOR FORCE — A third of U. S. women (over 14) are in the American "labor force," says the National Manpower Council of Columbia university, which comments that the onetime spinster "career woman" has been supplanted by the working wife. Only 7 per cent of women never marry. Here are some facts gleaned by the council, which was created by President Eisenhower when he was Columbia president before he got his promotion.

Working Wives Increasing, Even Though They Are Criticized

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Our society still looks down its nose at the working wife, although her number steadily increases.

If she takes an outside job, she is told "motherhood is a full-time duty". Yet, 3 of every 10 married women are working; two out of every five mothers with school age children are in the national labor force.

Gay Pauley

This contrasting picture of the working wife is drawn in a couple of publications which came across my desk today.

One, "The Modern Mother's Dilemma", said that even today society puts the question, "home OR career".

The other publication, "Womanpower", doesn't try to solve woman's problem of adjusting to the dual role. It simply is a report on the "revolution" in the employment of women in the last half century.

The first, released by the non-profit educational organization Public Affairs Committee, is written by Mrs. Sidonie Matsner Gruenberg, former director of the Child Study Association of America, and her daughter, Mrs. Hilda Sidney Krech.

The "Womanpower" report is from the National Manpower Council, a private, non - partisan citizens' group established in 1951 at Columbia University.

"At least nine out of every 10 American women are likely to work outside the home in the course of their lives," said the council.

Quarter Century Work

Today's schoolgirls may expect to spend 25 years or more in paid work outside the home. Women, the council continued, will account for at least half of the expected increase of 10 million persons in the labor force by 1965.

The council said women today earn one fifth of the nation's income. Six of every 10 working women are married. Five out of 10 are past 40."

"The combination of home and work may not be attempted by all, or even most women," said the council. "But there is no question that it will be the goal of increasing numbers."

Granted, said authors Gruenberg and Krech.

But they added, "the notion still is prevalent that it is unwomanly for a mother to think about having interests beyond her home.

"It is utterly false to assume or imply that women 'hanker' after outside activity as an alternative to their family life. Most women want families first, and the other things in addition.

"What many seem to have forgotten is that to be a complete mother, one also must be a complete woman."

The authors suggested that hiring the woman as a part-time employe supplies the answer to the "dilemma."

"But at present the very bitter choice for most women is all or nothing," they said. "Being away from nine to five is simply too much. Nothing is obviously not enough."

Wants to Elect Attorney General

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly today considered Republican legislation to provide for election of the state's attorney general.

A House bill offered Tuesday would remove the cabinet post appointment from the governor and require the Commonwealth's top legal officer to be selected during a general election. The proposal would amend the state Constitution, requiring passage by the present Assembly and the 1959 Legislature before going before the voters in a referendum.

Police Case Before Court

PITTSBURGH UP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court was asked today to determine whether a borough may hire police officers on a term basis without coming under responsibilities imposed by the police tenure act.

The issue arose from a Washington County court decision ordering West Brownsville to reinstate Mell Deskins, whom the borough council refused to re-appoint as chief in 1956 after he had served three two-year terms as the borough policeman.

Arguing the borough's appeal, Charleroi attorney Austin J. Murphy Jr. contended Deskins was not a full-time employe of West Brownsville and did not come within the 1951 tenure act.

2 Memorials

In memory of our beloved sister, aunt, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Olga Waxman Grillo, who departed this life two years ago today, March 21, 1955.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dear and loved by all,
Her loving heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew it, she was gone;
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
God loved her too and thought it best
So He took her home to eternal rest.
But only those who loved her best,
Can tell the heartache of saying a last farewell
There is someone who misses you sadly
And finds the time long since you went.
And we think of you daily and hourly
But try to be brave and content.
Many are the tears we shed in silence,
As we breathe a sigh of regret.
For you were ours and we remember
Though all the world forgets.
Sadly missed by Sisters, Brothers, Nephews and Brothers-in-law

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Pete Martin, who died five years ago today, March 21, 1952.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ossie Clark and Children.

Old Law Blamed in Fuel Hike

HARRISBURG (UP)—A special state Governmental Reorganization Commission charged today that an old Pennsylvania law which should be changed is resulting in higher fuel prices to the public.

The commission said the common law "rule of capture" is an obstacle to the exploration of new deep gas and oil fields and to the efficient and complete recovery of oil and gas deposits in the state.

The potential injury to our national defense is obvious, especially now when the Suez situation reveals the dangers surrounding the Middle Eastern oil reserves owned by the western nations," the commission said in a report to the state Legislature.

"The public interest in Pennsylvania suffers additional disadvantages from existing procedures because a large share of the inequities, gas losses and excess expenses are passed on to the public through higher prices for gas and decreased revenue from publicly owned land."

The commission said Pennsylvania is the only major gas and oil producing state which operates under the so-called "capture" rule. The law permits neighbors of landowners on whose property fuel is discovered to drain out oil and gas from these reserves.

"As late as 1930...producers allowed oil to flow into open pits and into rivers and streams rather than to close their wells and allow their neighbors to capture it." the commission said.

The group said that until the law is changed, "there is no adequate incentive to induce operators to attempt to develop new oil and gas fields in Pennsylvania."

Fayette County Tax Collectors Filing Reports

Two Fayette County area district tax collectors have filed reports for the calendar year ending Dec. 31, 1956, it was announced today by Clerk of Courts Harry T. Matthews.

According to statute, three complete reports must be made out within 60 days after the close of the calendar year. One copy is filed with the Department of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg and one copy with the clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court. The third copy is kept by the tax collector at his office or residence for public inspection.

According to an act of July 2, 1947, any person who "fails to comply with any of the provisions shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to an imprisonment not exceeding three months or pay a fine not exceeding $500 or both at the discretion of the court."

Of the 42 tax collectors in Fayette County, reports have been filed by approximately 25.

District reports were filed by the following:

Fayette City — Charles L. Humphries, collector; total collected, $37,653.30; unit cost, $1,831.96; salary and commissions, $1,831.96.

Perryopolis Borough — Paul J. Hlavach, collector; collections, $43,877.36; unit costs, $2,527.50; salary and commissions, $2,193.87; expenses, $220.69.

Older Persons Needing Help, Leader Claims

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said Wednesday a comprehensive program must be developed to overcome the problems of older persons in Pennsylvania.

The governor said in a message to a committee he set up for studying those problems that he has "long been concerned about the possible inadequacies of our programs for the aging in Pennsylvania."

He said Pennsylvania now has over 1,200,000 persons over 60 "and our population remains the same, by 1970 we will have two-million persons of that age group in our population."

"I hope that you will embark on a series of studies which will result in recommendations to the governor and, ultimately, to the Legislature and the public on such problems as income maintenance, employment group care, health care, medical care, rehabilitation, recreation, education, religion, housing, retirement policies, community planning, and others which are too numerous to mention," he said.

Maxwell Bill Would Increase State Police

A bill introduced in the state House of Representatives by Dr. H. J. Maxwell, of Monessen, would increase the state police force from 1,900 to 2,000, it was announced today.

Other bills introduced by area legislators include:

H756 — Extend the six cent gasoline tax for another two years. Anthony J. Petrosky (D - Westmoreland; and Robert Wheeler, Jr. (D-Fayette).

H781 — Authorize purchase of 91,250 of seven acres of land in Susquehanna Township for use by the state Farm Products Show Commission. James E. Lovett (D-Westmoreland) and Norman Wood (R-Lancaster).

H783 — Increase the amount of appropriations to municipalities for road purposes. Anthony J. Petrosky (D-Westmoreland) and Robert Wheeler Jr. (D-Fayette).

H785 — Authorize construction of at least 67 road side rests along state highways. Anthony J. Petrosky (D-Westmoreland and Robert Wheeler Jr. (D-Fayette).

H803 — Repeal the corporation loans tax. Wayne M. Breisch, (R-Schuylkill) and Anthony J. Petrosky (D-Westmoreland).

H804 — Repeal the corporation excise tax, domestic. Wayne M. Breisch, (R-Schuylkill); Charles A. Auker :R-Blair; James E. Lovett (D-Westmoreland) and Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks).

H805 — Repeal the corporation excise tax, foreign. Charles A. Auker (R-Blair; James E. Lov-Fayette); Leo J. McLaughlin, (D-Allegheny) and George W. Heffner (R-Schuylkill).

Would Change Names of Some Pike Interchanges

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly today advanced legislation to change the names of some Pennsylvania Turnpike interchanges.

The House bill, amended Tuesday for the second time and placed in position for passage in that chamber, would make these changes:

Blue Mountain Interchange to become the Chambersburg - Shippensburg Interchange; Harrisburg West Interchange to the West Shore-York Interchange; Harrisburg East Interchange to the Harrisburg - Highspire Interchange; Mahoning Valley Interchange to the Lehighton Interchange, and Perry Highway Interchange to the Warrendale - Ambridge Interchange.

The bill was sponsored by Reps. Enos H. Horst (R-Franklin), Arthur George (R-Cumberland), Ray C. Goodling (R-York) and Stanley H. Gross (R-York).

They said the bill would give the interchanges actual map names of cities in the place of Blue Mountain and Mahoning Valley which do not appear as cities on the map.

Would Transfer State Hospitals To Local Control

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Citizens Association today recommended transfer of the state's 10-owned medical and surgical hospitals to local control.

The recommendation was embodied in the group's overall reorganization plan calling for establishment of a state Health, Welfare and Correction Administration to include the Health Department, and departments of social welfare, mental health, correction and management and service.

The PCA said that under its plan for organization of county health and welfare units it was "logical" for the 10-institutions to be transferred to the jurisdiction of those local units.

"The addition of these facilities would materially strengthen the resources of local government and would lessen the burden on the state, even though their adequate support required the continuation of state aid," the association said. "Pending the proposed transfer to local health or welfare units, the state's administrative responsibility should be assumed by the Department of Health, which is more adequately staffed to provide professional supervision."

Gov. George M. Leader's General Fund budget calls for appropriations totaling $15,439,663 for the hospitals located at Ashland, Blossburg, Coaldale, Connellsville, Hazleton, Locust Mountain, Nanticoke, Philipsburg, Scranton and Shamokin.

Editorials—

It's Always the Other Fellow

THE QUESTION, "Who causes inflation?" is becoming a little like the old conundrum, "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?"

It is possible to argue quite convincingly — and sincerely, too — that higher prices are the inevitable consequence of higher wages. Then it is possible to turn around and argue, just as convincingly and perhaps just as sincerely, that employes have to have higher wages if they are to pay the higher prices.

We have read enough of the literature on both sides of this question to be persuaded that both sides probably are right. Inflation, in the last analysis, is just the sum-total, the final symptom of our combined American desires to get more and more.

The trouble with so many folks who address themselves to the question of inflation and what causes it is that they are very good at seeing the moat in the other fellow's eye but they miss completely the beam that is in their own.

The U. S. Steel Corp., to cite a recent example, includes in its annual report to its stockholders a gratuitous opinion that inflation is being made "a permanent feature of American life" by the "vast power of industry-wide labor unions". The unions, says U. S. Steel, have been able to force "annual increases in employments costs far beyond increases in productivity, automatically compelling inflation".

To buttress this argument, the report points out that U. S. Steel's cost per employe-hour in 1956 was three and a half times greater than the cost in 1940. Yet it says the price of steel increased only two and a half times in this period.

* * *

THIS INFORMATION is no doubt accurate and probably is typical of the experience of all steel companies. But the analysis includes no mention of what has happened with respect to executive salaries, bonuses, pension plans and stock option arrangements during this period. And if the truth were known, we suspect that some industrial executives who are vey good at lecturing the wage earner and the union leader on the evils of the wage increase which is not supported by increased productivity have been doing pretty well themselves at keeping abreast of inflation.

In other words, inflation is usually caused by the other fellow, and it is the other fellow who is going to have to show more restraint if inflation is to be checked.

As a practical matter, however, it is unrealistic to expect the other fellow to do the restraining first. And if those who weild the economic power in this country don't decide to restrain together, all at the same time, one of two things seems likely to happen. Either (1) the government will do the restraining for them by means of arbitrary controls, or (2) the inflation will run its course and end in a general collapse.

For our part, we're in favor of voluntary restraint — by everybody.

Shameful Abuses

REGARDLESS of what further disclosures may be made by the Senate investigation of labor racketeering, the top leadership of the Teamsters Union, including President Dave Beck, stand guilty of shameful abuses of trust.

Beck, by his own admission made before he has even taken the stand, is guilty of using the Teamsters' money pretty much as if it were his own. He admits "borrowing" more than $300,000 of it to make personal investments without paying a cent of interest and without making a report to the membership.

Add to this the odd transactions by which Teamster funds were used to "buy" Beck's home and furnish it in princely style, and you get a picture of labor leadership gone haywire.

The victim in all this, of course, is the truck driver whose dues, extracted from his wages in most cases without his ever seeing it, has gone into the union treasury to be used as part of the slush funds on which Beck and his associates have been making themselves rich. The truck driver is the fellow who has been getting the short end of the stick.

It will be bad enough if what has been going on in the Teamsters turns out to be exceptional. But we're afraid it isn't so very exceptional in spite of the contentions of some prominent figures in the union movement who are saying that the Becks are no more than a small minority.

It is not so much downright dishonesty that is involved — nobody has accused Beck, in fact, of stealing anything. It is more a growing disregard on the part of labor leaders of their responsibility to their members. Too many of them are overly impressed with the power of their positions and with the comforts and privileges that go with that power. Too few recognize that that they should be the servants, not the masters, of their members.

Don't look now, but that "emergency" state sales tax is going the way of all "emergency" taxes—it's about to become permanent.

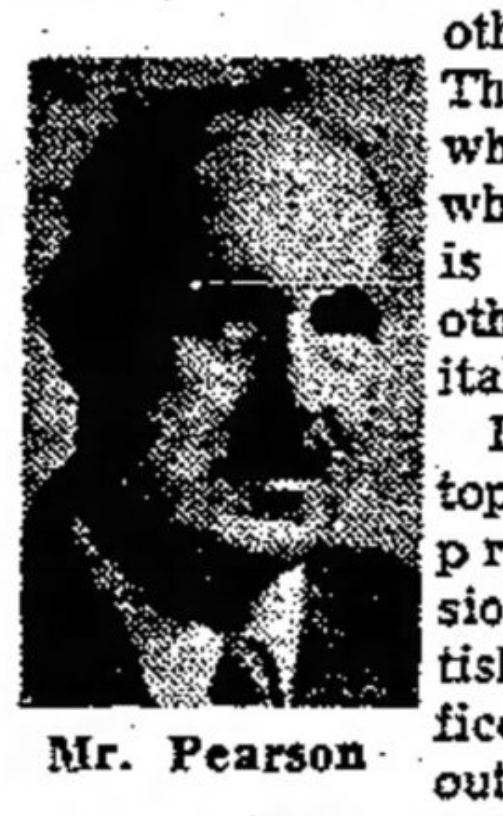
Pittsburgh's safety director, after investigating the police scandal, reports that the officers involved are very good policemen, but they just forgot it for a couple of days.

Merry-Go-Round—

Will Ike Meet Queen At Airport?

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There was a certain amount of diplomatic joshing about the manner in which President Eisenhower went to the airport to meet King Saud of Saudi Arabia, while refusing to meet other dignitaries. This question of who-meets-whom, however, is no joke in other world capitals.



Mr. Pearson

It has been the topic of so much private discussion that the British Foreign Office has sounded out the State Department informally as to whether Eisenhower would go to the airport to meet Queen Elizabeth if she visits Washington next fall. The implication was understandably clear that the Queen would probably not come to Washington if she rated below the kind of backward but oil-rich country where slave trading is still legal.

The question of who-meet-whom was also discussed inside British diplomatic circles in regard to the visit of President Eisenhower to Bermuda. It was even suggested, again informally, that Prime Minister Macmillan might arrive in Bermuda after the President, thus letting Ike be met by Foreign Secretary Lloyd.

British not Alone

The idea was, of course, discarded. But the fact that it was even discussed indicates the extent to which foreign governments have resented the fact that such old friends of the United States as Winston Churchill were not met by Eisenhower while the King of Saudi Arabia was.

The British, incidentally, are not alone. The new Negro state of Ghana began taking its new-found independence seriously when Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah did not show up at the airport to meet Vice President Nixon. The excuse was the same one as that given by Eisenhower in the past — namely, that Nixon was not head of a state.

The snub given by the Negro Prime Minister, incidentally, is sure to touch off chuckles in Capitol cloakrooms, especially among oldline Republicans and Southern Democrats who resented Nixon's sudden switch in favor of killing filibusters — a switch which they said was inspired by a desire to win Negro votes.

Under the Dome

Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been wooing newsmen at private breakfasts in what are now called "Lyndon's charm schools." The Democratic leader is both vocal and vigorous. If he said in public what he tells newsmen, he would make more headlines on Capitol Hill. Here are recent samples: "Either Dulles lied to congressional leaders or Nasser lied to Dulles regarding Egypt's move back into the Gaza Strip." . . . "The Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East is a bunch of hogwash." . . . "I am shocked that the three leaders of the United States government should all be out of the country at the same time." . . . When visiting the USA, Queen Frederika of Greece was so upset when she learned the President would not come to take the train from New York to Washington . . Actually, the President has not followed the explanation officially given at the time of King Saud's visit that he only goes to the airport or railroad station to welcome heads of state. No fewer than 15 heads of state have come to Washington, yet the only one he met was King Saud. The list includes: the King and Queen of Greece, the President of Italy, the President of Brazil, the President of Uruguay, the President of Turkey, Governor General Vincent Massey of Canada, President Remon of Panama, the Emperor of Ethiopia, President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, President Tubman of Liberia, the Shah of Iran, President Magloire of Haiti, President Castillo Armas of Guatemala, and President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Mrs. Nixon and St. Pat

Cables from Rome report that much was made of Mrs. Nixon's birthday on March 17 and the fact that she came into the world on St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. Nixon is a gracious lady whose birthday would be unimportant if it were not for the fact that the Vice President has wooed Irish voters with the idea that his wife "Patricia" was a kindred soul of the patron saint of Ireland. However, Mrs. Nixon's birth certificate filed in Ely, Nev., shows that she was born not on St. Patrick's Day, but on March 16, 1912, and that her name was not Patricia, but Thelma Catherine Ryan. According to Dr. A. F. Adams, the doctor wh. signed the certificate, Mrs. Nixon came into the world at 3:25 a. m. on March 16.

Shifts in the High Command

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There are changes being made in the high command of the armed forces which will bring major consequences in their wake. The two most significant are these:

For the first time the Joint Chiefs of Staff will have an Air Force general as chairman and two of its four members drawn from the air arm of the services.

Mr. Drummond

For the first time since the end of World War II the supreme command in the Pacific is being transferred from the Army to the Navy and headquarters will be moved 4,000 miles nearer the continental United States — from Tokyo to Hawaii.

Although public announcement may not be made for a while, all of these top command appointments are now firm — with the approval of the President. Here is the personnel of the new Joint Chiefs of Staff:

Twining Chairman

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Chief of Staff of the Air Force for the last two years, will succeed Adm. Arthur W. Radford, who is retiring, as Chairman of the J. C. S.

Gen. Thomas D. White, presently Vice Chief of Staff of the Air Force and one of the ablest though least-publicized officers at the Pentagon, is being promoted to Chief of Staff, succeeding Gen. Twining.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chief of Staff of the Army, and Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, Chief of Naval Operations, will be continued for another two-year term.

The chairmanship of the Joint Chiefs, who are the senior military advisers to the President, the National Security Council and the Secretary of Defense, is as powerful as the man who occupies it. The law does not require that it be rotated among the three services but this has been the practice since the unification act of 1947. General of the Army Omar Bradley was chairman during the last Truman term and Adm. Radford has been chairman during the first Eisenhower term.

This means that Gen. Twining is not being promoted to the chairmanship for the explicit purpose of giving larger representation to the Air Force. But the effect is to give added prestige and influence in the councils of both strategy and budget-making for air-power at a time when the air-power race with the Soviet Union is most acute.

Gen. Twining and the upcoming Air Force chief, Gen. White, will make a formidable team. Gen. White is a creative, imaginative thinker in the whole range of air strategy. Together, they can hardly fail to make a considerable impact upon the thinking of the J. C. S. Adm. Burke is also one of the most air-minded men in the Navy.

The naming of Adm. Felix B. Stump, who has been the Navy commander in the Pacific for several years, as the supreme commander of all American forces in the Pacific is a far-reaching change. A succession of Army generals — Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Gen. Taylor, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer — succeeded General of the Army Douglas MacArthur as supreme commander and as pro-consul of the occupation of Japan. Obviously the Korean War and its consequences justified these appointments since the role of the Army was transcendent.

There are Army officers who are genuinely anxious over the shift which is now being made, particularly the removal of supreme headquarters several thousand miles further away from the scene of potential trouble. Frankly, one of the reasons — at least one of the by-products — of Gen Taylor's present trip to the Far East is to quiet the mutterings and ease the heart-burnings among the top Army command from Alaska to the Philippines.

Stump Respected

In all of this there is no reservation about the personal and professional qualifications of Adm. Stump. He is one of the Navy's best and respected by all the services.

Gen. Lemnitzer, now supreme commander in Tokyo, is due to return to the Pentagon as Vice Chief of Staff of the Army. He will succeed Gen. Williston B. Palmer, who will probably take over the 7th Army command in western Europe.

Gen. Taylor, an air-minded, paratroop-experienced officer, will remain a major figure at the Pentagon and at the end of two years will be at the top rung of the ladder when it will again be the turn of the Army to chair the Joint Chiefs.

Behind The News—

Saud Overshadowing Nasser with Arabs

By CHARLES M. McCANN

King Saud of Saudi Arabia is assuming an increasingly important role in Middle Eastern Affairs.

Saud is actively building up his prestige as an Arab leader. And the build-up is being made at the expense of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

Mr. McCann

Last week Saud was host to Shag Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran, which like Saudi Arabia is one of the world's great oil-producing countries.

Premier Abdullah Khalil of the Sudan, which Nasser regards as within his own sphere of influence, is visiting Saud today.

President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon is to arrive in Jeddah, Saud's capital, on Friday as a state visitor.

Iran, firmly pro-Western, is a member of the Baghdad Pact, which Nasser bitterly opposes.

Others In Arab League

Both the Sudan and Lebanon are fellow-members with Saudi Arabia and Egypt of the Arab League, of which Nasser regards himself as leader.

There is every indication that conferences of the Shah, Khalil and Chamoun with Saud will strengthen the position of the United States and its Western Allies in the Middle East.

Saud expressed his approval in principle of the Eisenhower Doctrine against Communist aggression in the Middle East as the result of his visit to President Eisenhower last month.

Both Iran and Lebanon have approved the doctrine.

Saud is necessarily siding with Nasser in the issue of opening the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, as a member of the Arab League and because Saudi Arabia like Egypt, has a coast-line on the gulf.

Break Seen Nevertheless

But Saud seems to be steadily pulling away from Nasser on the long-range Middle Eastern situation.

It is quite likely the United States is doing all it can, quietly, to build up Saud.

Nasser is a showy, dramatic newcomer to big-time Middle Eastern affairs. He is mortgaging the economy of his poverty-stricken country to Russia. His personal position as Egypt's leader is insecure.

Saud's position is stronger than that of any other Middle Eastern leader. His country's immense oil resources have been one factor in keeping him from following Nasser in an anti-Western policy. His good sense, in contrast to Nasser's hip-shooting tendency, is another.

Will Nasser Go?

There are signs that the United States may be coming around to the British-French position that Nasser must go. It certainly is hard to see how his downfall could be very harmful to anybody but himself—and Soviet Russia.

Russia seems to be aware of the changing situation. It has been reported that the Soviet government intends to name Dmitri Shepilov, recently replaced as foreign minister, as ambassador to Egypt. It was Shepilov, before he took over the foreign ministry, who negotiated the sale of Communist arms to Nasser. It is interesting that Russia also has presented the shah with a glamourously-furnished air liner.

National Affairs—

Gov. Williams Seeks to Ditch the CIO Label

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — Reports from Michigan indicated that Gov. G. Mennen Williams is making motions to rid himself of the CIO label.

A nationally-advertised show of independence from his friends in the United Automobile Workers the United Automobile Workers would seem to be a pre-condition for any serious Williams campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Mr. Lahr

The UAW, a dominant force in the Michigan Democratic Party, was one of the two dominant unions in the CIO before the AFL-CIO merger. Walter P. Reuther, the last CIO president, is president of the UAW and a vice president of the AFL-CIO.

Seeks Sixth Term

Williams has made some recent judicial appointments without consulting Reuther. Although Reuther was understood to support the appointments, he was reported miffed that he was not consulted.

In Michigan, Williams' action was interpreted as a move to show he was not the handmaiden of the CIO, even though he still would welcome its support.

Although Williams' political plans have not been announced, he is expected to run for a sixth two-year term as governor next year and is regarded as an aspirant for the presidency in 1960.

His appeal would be to the left wing of the Democratic Party—those who want to go on from where the New Deal and the Fair Deal stopped. His nomination would mean the party was swerving to the left.

Must Woo Votes

With President Eisenhower's program firmly identified with the middle of the road (a little to the left of it to some Republicans), a substantial segment of the Democratic Party believes it must go left. This line of argument holds that the party must take an aggressive line to woo back the votes of the big cities, labor, Negroes and other minorities which have been slipping to the GOP.

If this philosophy prevails in 1960, Williams could be the beneficiary just as Gov. Averell Harriman of New York tried to be in his bid for the 1956 presidential nomination. But to many in the Democratic Party now, Williams hews too closely to the CIO line to be salable nationally to farmers, southerners and others not completely enamored of the goals of an aggressive labor movement.

By 1960, Williams may have to compete with Democratic governors like Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and others who could step out on the national scene in the next three years.

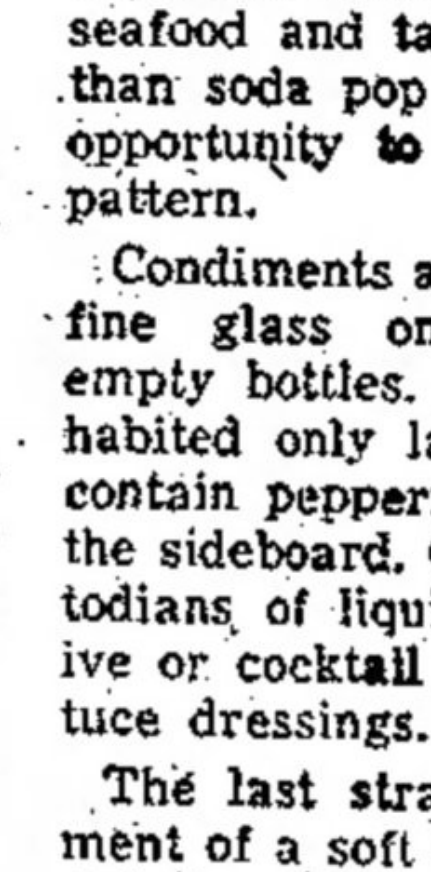
Interior Decoration

By MARGARET LATROBE

Lady Mendl, as Elsie de Wolfe, may have single-handedly created the profession of interior decoration, but 'twas not she who initiated the decor of checkered table cloths and candles stuck in wine bottles. This latter school of decorating served many a Depression career girl and young married couple who sought atmosphere via functional means.



Mrs. Latrobe

A few dyed burlap bags, hung tastefully at the windows; a bit of copper, and some candied ginger arranged on the coffee table (disguised orange crate); a painted screen to hide the sink and gas burner — and you had a chic apartment.

This sort of thing prompted designers to create lamps from wash bowls, tea caddies and umbrella racks — selling at handsome sums to depression graduates now cosily housed in suburban developments where "playrooms" demand such informal and different touches.

And that prompted certain amateur decorators to convert old fishbowls, candle molds, and tea kettles into lamps of their own. (I am told that an enterprising fellow had begun converting old lamps back into their original state, and making money hand over fist — but one hears many incredible rumors in this business.)

All this was bound to prompt the glass bottle industry to give the girls a hand in their houses beautiful. Now we have everything from sardines to hard likker put up in glass containers of such gorgeous color and splendor of design that even if we loathe briny seafood and take nothing stronger than soda pop we can't resist the opportunity to add to our crystal pattern.

Condiments are packaged in such fine glass one cannot toss out empty bottles. Tall cannisters, inhabited only lately by bath salts, contain peppermints or cookies on the sideboard. Cruets once the custodians of liquid companion of olive or cocktail onion now hold lettuce dressings.

The last straw is an announcement of a soft drink "Hostess Bottle" of spiral design, good enough for anybody's parlor. Don't be surprised if a set of these objects d'art turn up in the kitchen, labelled "flour, sugar, tea and coffee."

Now that we think of it, what's the matter with the tin can folks? Can't we have a square coffee can embellished in gold leaf or something? Sounds like a perfect container for cigars, sewing gear or old snapshots.

Mrs. Wallace Byron To Head Sorority

Mrs. Wallace Byron was elected president of the Eta Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at a meeting held last night in the Civic Center. She will succeed Mrs. Jack Sonafelt, who has headed the chapter since its inception two years ago.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Stephen Major, vice president; Mrs. Charles Kellar, recording secretary; Claudia Koltash, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Paul Kissell, treasurer.

The installation ceremonies will take place at the first meeting in May.

Will Give Gift

The executive board of the chapter had voted to purchase a safety server for the Children's Ward at the Charleroi Monessen Hospital. This was approved and after the sorority's plaque is placed on the equipment it will be presented to the hospital.

Plans were completed for the "rushees" party to be held on Sunday, March 24, at the home of Mrs. Major. All guests are asked to be present promptly at 8 o'clock.

There was a change in the date for the preferential tea, which was originally set for April 7. It has been advanced to Sunday afternoon, March 31, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Byron from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Musical Program

Last night's cultural program was presented by Donna Manderino. She played a recording of a recent concert presented by the California State Teachers College Glee Club of which she and Marilyn Pivarnik are members. Both are Eta Zeta members. She then discussed the program theme, "Music Appreciation."

The chapter will meet again on April 3.

Will Hold Business Meet

The March meeting of the Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Business and Professional Women's Club will be held on Wednesday, March 27, and it will be a business session.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. J. L. Conway, of St. Leonard R. C. Church.

The hostess committee will include Marilyn Mealy, Ann Arcuri, Jacqueline Ciepley and Anna Stem.

Senior 'R' Club Plans Dance And Bake Sale

Members of the Senior "R" Club met in regular session on Monday evening in the club rooms with the president, John Matty, in charge.

Announcement was made of the Pittsburgh District Spring Dance, which is being sponsored by the McKees Rocks Club on Saturday evening, May 4.

Plans were completed for a bake sale to be held on Sunday at the Church hall following both services at St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox Church. Olga Yetsconish is the general chairman of the event with Nancy Milosovich and Helen Dacko assisting her.

Plans were also made for a dance to be held at the Russian Hall on June 1, featuring the Mellow Men. Tony Miralles will be chairman with Marion Kostichak assisting.

Although complete results of the district bowling tournament held in Donora on March 3, were not announced, announcement was made that Andrew Dacko, of the local club was winner of the singles division.

B and B Club Is Entertained

Members of the B and B Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Grace Matz, on Tuesday evening.

There were three tables of five hundred in play and those receiving high score awards were Mrs. Bea O'Savage, Juanita Telegraphis, Mrs. Bea Gosney and Mrs. Mary Zielensky.

Mrs. Mary Mihalek received the guest gift for the evening and Mrs. June Hannen and Mrs. Mary O'Savage received gifts from their secret sisters to mark their wedding anniversaries.

A gift was presented to the hostess and plans were made to meet at the home of Mrs. Telegraphis.

The hostess served luncheon at the close of the evening.

Carolyn Rouse Weds James Martin in Church Ceremony

Solemnized in the Church of Jesus Christ in Monongahela was the marriage of Carolyn Rouse and I. James Martin on Saturday, March 9, at 6:30 in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rouse, of Third street, Monongahela and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Idris J. Martin, Jr., of Belle Vernon R. D.

A half hour of music preceded the ceremony with John Majoris, of Charleroi, siging, "I Love You Truly", "Because", "O Promise Me" and "Whither Thou Goest". Mrs. George Neill was the accompanist.

The father of the bridegroom read the lines of the nuptial service before a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a full length gown of rosepoint lace and nylon tulle. The bodice was styled with a Queen Ann collar and long pointed sleeves. The tiered nylon skirt was accented with lace and her matching tiara held a fingertip veil of sheer illusion. She carried a circular arrangement of camelias centered with a white orchid.

Bridal Party

Mrs. George Rouse, Jr., was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Virginia Martin, sister of the bridegroom, Audrey Mellinger and Barbara Hull, of Bedford.

They were all attired in romance blue silk taffeta gowns fashioned with shoulder necklines and tailored bow trim. They wore matching coronets and carried colonial bouquets of pink camelias.

Best man was Jerry Roberts, of Belle Vernon and the ushers were Dr. George Rouse, brother of the bride, Richard Scagline, of Monongahela and Jarrett Koontz, of Belle Vernon.

Hold Reception

The reception after the ceremony was served in the Ginger Hill Grange Hall. Refreshments were served from a buffet table and centering it was a tiered wedding cake in the shape of a clover. It was presented to the bride and bridegroom by Mrs. Walter Mellinger and Mrs. John Olexa, of Speers.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the new Mrs. Martin was wearing a tailored poudre blue suit with black accessories. The couple will reside in their own apartment at 426 Second street, Monongahela.

The bride is employed in the Monongahela Office of the Western Pennsylvania National Bank and her husband is employed by the U. S. Steel Corporation at the Clairton plant.

Mrs. Dean Holland

Former Belle Vernon Girl Is Honor Guest

Mrs. James McLaughlin, of Roscoe, entertained recently at her home at a miscellaneous shower honoring her daughter, Mrs. Dean Holland, who before her marriage was Joann Bendie. They are former residents of Belle Vernon.

About 40 guests attended from Roscoe, West Brownsville, California, Pittsburgh, Belle Vernon, Bentleyville, Washington, Donora and Roscoe.

Games were played and refreshments were served from a table centered with a decorated cake topped with the inscription. "Joannie and Dean". Heirloom candlesticks held tall lighted tapers on either side of the cake.

The many gifts were placed on a decorated gift table and were opened by the guest of honor assisted by Sheila Wright, Lauta Ellks and Ruth Barnard, who were classmates of Mrs. Holland at Washington Hospital School of Nursing.

Mr. Holland, formerly of Roscoe, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holland. The couple was married on June 16, 1956 in Columbia, S. C., where Mr. Holland was stationed with the U. S. Army. He and his bride lived in South Carolina and Georgia until Pfc. Holland was sent to Asmara, Africa, where he is now stationed. Mrs. Holland returned to her home and plans to reside there while her husband is abroad.

Pfc. Holland attended Charleroi Schools and his wife was graduated from California High School and attended Washington Hospital School of Nursing.

LOCALS

One of the series of Lenten services planned by the Pittsburgh District Orthodox Diocese will be held Sunday at 7 p. m. at St. Mary Church, Monongahela. Club Members Take Part In Program at Meeting

A club participation program arranged by the membership committee featured last night's meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club held at Johnson's Cape Cod room and preceded by the serving of dinner. New members were welcomed into the group.

Mrs. Jean Githens, a club member spoke on the "Federation" and outlined its origin, aims and accomplishments. She also described the club emblem and its meaning and explained the meaning of the club collect.

A chorus of members led by Charlotte Lear sang a number of BPW songs for the new members.

Presenting a pantomime were Geraldine Meluck, Ann Sistek, Ebba Layman and Jacqueline Minardi with Dorothy Stieska as accompanist.

Miss Catharine Harris, president, was in charge of the business session and routine reports were given.

Delegates and alternates were elected to the Spring District meeting to be held in Ligonier on April 27. Named were Catharine Harris, Ann Sistek, Elizabeth Costa, Evelyn Arabia, Jean Miller and Elaine Snyder.

Announcement was made of the luncheon to be held on March 30 in the Legislative room at the Penn Harris Hotel in Harrisburg. The affair will be in honor of women in the legislature. Named to attend from the local club were Mrs. Margaret Wilkins, Mrs. Gloria Mahalko, Mrs. Dolly O'Toole and Miss Harris.

The membership committee in charge of arrangements included Evelyn Arabia, chairman, Jacqueline Minardi, Ann Sistek, Dixie Kraynik, Geraldine Meluck and Ebba Layman.

Bobby Churan Is Honored On Birthday

Bobby Churan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Churan, of 8 Anderson Court, was honored at a party at his home yesterday to mark his eighth birthday anniversary.

Many Cast Changes For 'Your Hit Parade'

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The cast of "Your Hit Parade" has shuffled in and out of the show almost as often as the tunes over the past 22 years.

The latest casualties are Dorothy Collins, Gisele MacKenzie, Snooky Lanson, Russell Arms and Raymond Scott.

William Ewald

However, one cast member, announcer Andre Baruch, has survived through the entire lifetime of the show — all the way from "Deep Purple" to "Goody, Goody" to "White Cliffs of Dover" to "Hound Dog" He looks like a cinch to be around for "Mama Look At Bubu" and whatever heady matter lies beyond.

"It's kind of funny that I got the job at all," said Baruch, who has been in the business, boy and man, for 28 years. "When I auditioned for the job, I placed about 73rd.

"But George Washington Hill, one of the greatest ad men who ever lived and the man who conceived the show, suddenly decided on the day of the first show that he didn't like the announcer—he wasn't loud enough.

"So he called up the announcer's room where I was eating my lunch and said—'Get up here, boy.' Well, I got on that show that night and talked fast and loud, you could have heard me in Chicago. I mean I was screaming.

"I got the job all right, but I got a note on Monday morning from Hill and said—'Announcing good, but needs a little more punch.' "

Baruch, who is married to Bea Wain, a former "Hit Parade" vocalist, can remember back to 1935 when the vocalists weren't even billed.

"The emphasis in the show has always been on the tunes themselves," Baruch said, "and originally, the plan was to change the orchestra and singers about every six weeks.

"The first bandleader I can remember was Freddie Rich and then there were fellows like Carl Hoff, Al Goodman and Allan Roth Mark Warnow took over in 1938 and there was one period during the war when Axel Stordhal conducted.

Remembers Original Singers

The original singers on the show were Buddy Clark and a young lady called Fredda Gibson—she's known now as Georgia Gibbs. "Then there were a whole line of no-names," said Baruch. "They were followed by name singers like Lanny Ross, Barry Wood, Kay Lorraine, Andy Russell, June Valli and Frank Sinatra.

"Lawrence Tibbett used to sing on the show and so did Doris Day. Polly Bergen filled in once, too. And just before Snooky Lanson there was Jeff Clark."

The concept of the show changed a little over the years, too. "We used to do the 10 top tunes and we played them all the same way—fast and loud. Even the ballads. That was the way Mr. Hill wanted them. I remember his favorite tune was 'The Lady In Red'—they would really play that one loud.

"Then came a period in which we tried to make the tunes sound the way they did on the top records Since we went to TV in 1950, we've done individual little musical comedies each week based on the tunes."

Therein lies the appeal of the show, figures Baruch. "People watch just to find out how we're going to do 'Banana Boat Song' the seventh time around," he said. "And another thing is the production of the show—it's done beautifully and without panic. In fact, it's probably the least panicky show in the whole business."

Your Health—

Don't Be Afraid to Ask Doctor About Fees

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Let's talk about money.

You'd think just about everybody would be happy to discuss a subject such as this. But you'd be surprised at how many people actually fear to bring up the matter with their doctors.

No matter what you think, the simple fact is that doctors' fees haven't gone up as far, or as fast, as your other family expenses.

You spend about the same protion of your budget on medical costs as your parents did 20 years ago. That's about four cents out of every dollar.

Since wages have gone up at a much faster clip than medical costs, it means you have to put in less work to pay for the same amount of medical care.

Today, more than ever before, the bill your doctor sends you represents one of the really big bargains of your life. And you are entitled to know just about how much that bill will be when you seek medical help.

While your doctor can't always tell you in advance precisely how much a course of treatment or an operation is going to cost, he often can give you a pretty good idea.

Yet most patients become tongue-tied when it comes to asking their doctor about how much treatment will cost and how the payment is to be made. They are able to talk freely about some of their most intimate problems, but not about money.

Many undoubtedly refrain from bringing up the subject of money out of respect for their doctor. I guess they think it might be unbecoming for him to talk about money. But this isn't so, believe me.

In fact, thousands of doctors have a plaque in their offices which reads:

"To all my patients — I invite you to discuss frankly with me any questions regarding my services or fees. The best medical service is based on a friendly mutual understanding between doctor and patient."

They really mean it, too.

Capital Hostess Hopes To Invite Van Doren

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Hostess Gwen Cafritz, deep in plans for Washington's springtime social flurry, hopes to invite Charles Van Doren, the TV quiz expert, to her annual VIP-studded Easter party.

"He kind of appeals to me," Mrs. Cafritz said in an interview over martinis and cavier at her sumptuous home here. "I think he'd contribute a great deal. I always enjoy intellecutals per se."

Besides being an "intellectual", Van Doren has another qualification for Mrs. Cafritz' Easter party on April 21. He ran his winnings to $129,000 on TV's "Twenty One" before he was toppled from his top quiz perch.

White Brick Home

If he attends, the 31-year-old Columbia University instructor will rub elbows with Supreme Court justices, congressmen, cabinet officials and other social lights who traditionally make up the 1,000 person guest list and overflow the rambling white brick home on exclusive Foxhall Road.

Mrs. Cafritz' continued ability to draw top names to her drawing room without any official government connection has made her a phenomenon in a town where some hostess careers have been noticeably short.

Five Foreign Languages

One of her qualifications, she believes, is her ability to speak five foreign languages and "get along in more."

Her husband's wealth undoubtedly is also helpful.

Mrs. Cafritz describes her annual Easter party as "sort of noblesse oblige — it's wide open". She makes up a fresh guest list every year and "hopes and prays" she doesn't "forget anyone."

She never hires caterers since her staff prepares the food for the giant drinks - and - buffet affairs. But she does import a staff of butlers - about - town who are told "who is to stand where" and who help prevent confusion among the hired help.

K of C to Join In Celebration Here March 29

Monessen Knights of Columbus Council No. 94 will join over 3.900 other Councils throughout the United States and six foreign countries in observing the 75th anniversary of the K. of C.

The Councils will observe the occasion with special programs during March.

Louis J. Smith, grand knight of the Monessen Council, said today that Mayor Hugo J. Parente has issued a proclamation designating Friday, March 29, as Knights of Columbus Day in the community. In his proclamation, the Mayor said:

". . . The Monessen Council of the Knights of Columbus has always been active in the support of its church and city . . . I ask all citizens to participate with the Knights of Columbus in celebrating this day, March 29."

STOCKHOLM (UP)—Capt. Gunnar Nordenson will be given command of the Swedish America Lines' newest ship, the Gripsholm, the line announced today. Nordenson was commander of the liner Stockholm when it collided with the Italian liner Andrea Doria last summer.

Chimp Must Share Earnings

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP) —Betsey has her dowry, but not the clothes befitting a grand lady, and there's the rub.

Betsey, the Baltimore Zoo's fingerpainting chimpanzee with the artist's soul, will share her earnings, according to Zoo Director Arthur Watson, and that will leave her sort of threadbare.

To date, Betsey's paintings have brought in $1,075 according to Watson.

That accounts for the $650 price for a hubby all right, but the rest of it is earmarked for the zoo's animal fund, leaving Betsey without the werewithal for a trousseau.

Furthermore, she'll be without a perky bonnet and other attire for her television appearance (Garry Moore Show) April 2 unless some other fund is tapped.

Betsey, who already has been commissioned to do an abstraction for a Winnipeg newspaper, will have two of her paintings in competition shortly.

They were sent to Berkeley, Calif., Tuesday where judges will determine if they are worthy for showing in an art exhibit at the University of California.

They will be judged without identification at the request of the exhibitors before acceptance or, perish the thought, rejection.

El Paso, Tex., got its name because it is the lowest natural from the Spanish for "the pass" in that region.

Belle Vernon Reader Defends Flora

A Belle Vernon reader, who asks to remain unidentified, sends along this written comment: "Well, it has happened again. I refer to the deal given to basketball coach Jack Flora at Bellmar. It seems that a coach doesn't stand a chance these days. I can see no other reason but personal feeling for the action taken at Bellmar. Surely it couldn't be Flora's record. Prior to Bellmar's entry into Section 5, Coach Flora's record, I think, was outstanding. Certainly no one expected Bellmar to run away with Section 5 honors. Other than Monessen and Charleroi, what team in Section 5 did any better than Bellmar? There's more to this than meets the eye. I wonder if anyone on the Bellmarette board is man enough to come out and state the real reason for this action. That is, if they have any."

* * *

Incidentally a check through the record book reveals that Bellmar, since joining Section 5 three seasons back, has won 12 league games out of 36. That isn't too impressive, but other teams haven't done much better with the exception of Monessen and Charleroi. Monongahela, for example, has won only ten games the past three campaigns. Donora has earned 11 victories, while California shows 16 triumphs and Brownsville 17 successes. Thus Bellmar just about held its own with that crowd. Of course, Monessen and Charleroi obviously belonged in a different league. The Greyhounds won 33 games over that period, while Charleroi took 27 decisions.

Petty Heads for Dodger Camp

Bob Petty, all-around athlete at Monessen High, is en route to Vero Beach, Fla., where he'll work out with the Brooklyn Dodger farm hands. Petty, a 6-4 pitcher, throws awfully hard. He was signed to a Brooklyn pact by Scout Jim Russell of Fayette City . . . Construction on a swank new high school in California will begin this fall. Plans call for a swell gym . . . All four finalists in the 'A' and 'B' divisions of the recent WPIAL Basketball Tournament boasted unbeaten records. That's the first time that has happened in years . . . Opening night action in the Ozarks Basketball Tournament this week lasted until 12:15 a. m.

* * *

Johnny Popovich, Waynesburg College football coach, stays busy these days during the off-season as a substitute teacher at Monessen High . . . Dick Wiita, a Monessen High sports grad, reports that the recent Dick Kadis Night at California Teachers netted $450. In all, the Vulcan Varsity Club turned over almost $500 to the fund . . . Those ambitious Charleroi Merchants have signed Roy Barli, of California, and Jim Lazzari, of Monongahela, to diamond contracts. Already in the Charleroi fold are several Monessen standouts, including Dean Cheesebrough, Nick Mahalko and Walt Ciepley.

Suggests Parking Plan at Gym

Monessen's Mike Kurey has doped out a solution to the parking problem if the WPIAL decides to stage future tournament games at the MHS gym. Says Mike: "If Reed Avenue were blocked off, there would be more than enough room to park all cars almost directly in front of the school. There would be no problem after the game either, since traffic could move either up or down Ninth Street. As a matter of fact with all cars parked on Reed, it would actually avert a serious traffic tieup." . . . Another parking suggestion is that Ninth Street Park be opened for that purpose . . . Oddly enough there have never been any parking complaints despite sellout games at the MHS gym in the past.

Today's Sports Parade —

Yanks Big Favorites To Win Race Again

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Yankees are a prohibitive 1 to 2 favorite today to retain the American League pennant and the situation has the remainder of the revenge-minded loop in a slow burn.

Al Lopez, who while at Cleveland earned the distinction of being the only man to top them in the last eight years, has a fresh approach. Now piloting the White Sox, he thinks too much is written about how the Yanks are going to win.

"Eventually," he says, "the players on the other teams are going to start believing it, too."

You might be pardoned for thinking that other players subscribe to this theory. After all, the Yankees have won seven pennants and six world championships in those past eight seasons.

Work Against Them

But the sterling trades by which the Yankees regularly have managed to cement their position at the top eventually may begin to work against them.

Consider the recent deal with the Kansas City Athletics, a team which is earning dubious fame among its compatriots as a "yankee farm club." On the surface, the Yanks did it again when they obtained Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz from the A's. Ditmar has been tabbed by no less than Casey Stengel as a possible 20-game winner with the Yankees and Shantz could be a relief wonder.

It remains to be seen how well Ditmar and Shantz do. Whether they admit it or not, Irv Noren and Mickey McDermott now have paid up memberships in the anti-Yankee club.

May Snap Back

McDermott earned his trip to the country on a 2-6 record last year. But, going back to play for Lou Boudreau, a man for whom he won 18 games at Boston in 1953, he could possibly recapture some of that old form—particularly when sent against the Yankees. Noren, too, obviously was disgruntled with his trade and it's the kind of steam which pays off in over-the-head production when he faces his old teammates.

There are a bunch of ex-Yankees around the American League who like nothing better than to beat New York.

If you get enough guys mad enough, eventually those Yankee odds may change.

Dukes to Play In Dixie Classic

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne has accepted an invitation to play in the Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament at Raleigh, N. C. Dec. 26-27-28. Also in the tournament are four Atlantic Coast Conference teams yet to be selected St. Louis University, Northwest ern and another guest team.

Sharon Wins WPIAL Crown

Rally Tops Tigers 56 to 55

By UNITED PRESS

Coal Twp. in the east and Erie Strong Vincent in the west won their way to the regional semifinals of the PIAA Class A basketball playoffs Wednesday night. Meanwhile, at Pittsburgh, Sharon climaxed a long tourney with a thrilling come-from-behind victory over McKeesport for the WPIAL Class A championship.

Sharon's 56-55 victory makes it the District 7 (WPIAL) representative in the state PIAA playoffs. The Bengals will meet Altoona of District 6 at Pittsburgh Saturday night in a western regional quarterfinal.

Coal Twp. District 4 kingpin, controlled the backboards to defeat Nanticoke with ease, 71-51, before more than 3,500 fans at Bucknell University. Vince Paczkoski, with 24 points, led Coal Twp. to its 22nd victory in 23 starts while Nicky Kwak's 16 points was high for Nanticoke, District 2 champion.

In Final Seconds

In the western regional quarterfinal at Farrell, forward Al Redinger sank a layup with six seconds left to give Erie Strong Vincent of District 10 a 63-62 win over Clearfield of District 9. The game was tied nine times. Redinger led the winners with 21 points. George Wise of Clearfield took game-scoring honors with 33 points.

Coal Twp. will play reading at Philadelphia Saturday night in an eastern regional semifinal. Erie Strong Vincent will meet Oliver, of District 8 (Pittsburgh City League), in a western region semifinal at New Wilmington the same night.

Sharon, which dethroned Farrell, last year's WPIAL and PIAA Class A champion, was outclassed completely in the third period of its game with McKeesport but battled back with one of the most stirring finishes in the history of the WPIAL tournament.

Blows 6-point Lead

McKeesport, behind by 32-26 at halftime, scored 19 points in the third period while holding Sharon to nine and led, 45-39, going ito the last period. Ed Winter climaxed Sharon's rally with a field goal with less than two minutes still left in the game. McKeesport missed two attempts from the court after that.

Sharon's Mark DuMars, who scored 22 points, was voted the most valuable player in the WPIAL Class A tournament. McKeesport's Bill Pryor also scored 22 points to tie for scoring honors.

Pittsburgh Makes Gift to Olympics

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh is the first city in the United States to make a contribution to the 1960 Olympics to be held in Rome, Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Olympic commissioner, said Wednesday night.

Wilson, here to attend the annual John T. Taylor Memorial Award dinner, made the statment after receiving a check for $1,000 from the AAU Allegheny Mountain Assn.

Bonnies, Bradley Favored in NIT

NEW YORK (UP) — Recordbusting Bradley and "hungry" St. Bonaventure will be the unhappy favorites tonight when the semifinal round of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament matches four teams who were supposed to be back home reading about it in the newspapers.

St. Bonaventure is favored by three points over speedy Memphis State in the opening game of the twin bill and second - seeded Bradley is a 3½-point pick over Temple.

But seven of the eight games played so far have resulted in upsets, and the dazed odds-makers aren't sure of anything. In tonight's first game, they're worried about injuries to two Bonnie stars and in the second they're scared stiff on Temple ace Guy Rodgers.

Rely on Speed

The Bonnies rely on speed and ball-handling for their "upset magic" and will be badly hurt if Brendan McCann and Don Newhook aren't up to par. Ace sparkplug McCann is ailing with a virus; Newhook stretched a ligament in a bad fall during Monday's quarterfinals.

Bradley is the pick in the second game on the strength of its fantastic quarter - final victory over Xavier of Ohio, in which it came from 21 points behind to set Madison Square Garden scoring records of 116 points for a game, 72 points for a half, and 42 free throws. The Braves played an all-court press for the last 29 minutes to turn the game upside down.

Bradley was concerned about stopping Rodgers, the Temple whiz who so far has been the tourney's outstanding player. On the other hand, Coach Harry Litwack of Temple pointed out that a ball-handling ace like Rodgers could break up an all-court press.

Due to a poor memory, Daniel Webster, the greatest orator of his time, couldn't recite when a child.

Monessen Teams Lead in Turners Bowling Show.

Both Monessen teams in the Western Pennsylvania District Turners Bowling Tournament are more than holding their own, according to official statistics released today.

As a matter of fact, the Monessen women have piled up a tremendous 637 pin lead. The Monessen men are also first at the moment, 90 pins ahead of second place Rochester.

The tournament, which is staged in three rounds, will be completed sometime in May at Johnstown.

With two rounds already computed, the Monessen women have already spilled 4,332 pins. McKeesport ranks second with 3,695 pins.

Barring a complete collapse, the Monessen girls figure to win the tournament handily. If they do, it will be their second straight title. They also finished first last year.

Tourney Field

Here's how the rest of the tourney field stands: Johnstown, 3609; Monaca, 3501; Homestead, 3429; Monongahela, 3393; Rochester, 3117; Ambridge, 2627.

The Monessen men have taken 4706 pins compared to Rochester's 4616.

Other team totals are McKeesport, 4149; Monongahela, 4501; Monaca, 4350; Ambridge, 4295; Homestead, 4211; Johnstown, 4196.

Joe Jannotta rolled a 216-572 game at tourney play at Monongahela last weekend. For the women, Mary Palm turned in a 246-536, while Pauline Burdock rolled a 194-514 score.

Busy Card to Feature Action In Ozark Show

Another busy program will feature tonight's Ozarks Tournament show.

No less than six games — three in each division — will be offered tourney fans at the MHS gym beginning at 6 p. m.

The junior class tussles will match Donora Bills against Ellsworth at 6; Rostraver Twin Coaches against Connellsville 'B' at 6:50; and Monessen Tracys against the Rostraver-Connellsville survivor at 9:40.

The senior games will pair McKeesport against the Monessen Cro-Ams at 8; Monessen Ozarks against New Brighton at 9; and Donora Last Chance against Monessen Big Five at 10:30.

Looks Good

It's quite possible that the first game tonight will turn out to be the best. Both teams appear loaded.

The Donora Bill roster includes George Schoener from Charleroi, Dee Galiffa, Ed Kikla and Rich Sacane from Monongahela, Ewing Bell from California and Bill Sento and Angie Dabiero from Donora. The team is sponsored by Dr. William Rongaus.

The Ellsworth boys also have talent from a number of schools. Richard Kurnik, Bill Dean and Paul Squarcia will stick together from the Ellsworth High team. From Perryopolis are Dennis Asscotto, Bob Benke, Steve Stolarik and Jerry Matty. Also in the cast is Jack Smaroff of Bentleyville.

Rostraver Twin Coaches, comprised of Rostraver High undergrads, figures to get by Connellsville.

Tracys Debut

However the township lads will probably bow out later in the night when they meet the defending champion Monessen Tracys.

That club includes a mixture of Monessen and Charleroi standouts. The Monessen representatives are Frank Crisi, Maurice Mathieu, and John Bogovich. From Charleroi will come Dan Testy, Bob Boda, Carl Witmyer and Myron Pottios.

Tonight's senior division feature will match, Donora Last Chance against Monessen Big Five.

The Donorans have signed up Carnegie Tech stars Al Frank and Charles Goetz to bolster their roster. Frank rewrote most of the all-time Tech scoring records.

In addition, the Donorans have home-town talent like Bimbo Cecconi, John Mesher, Al Garde, Dave Wunderlich and Dave Russell. Also around is Sibby LoNegro, the CSTC standout.

Big Five Star

Monessen Big Five will feature Leroy Stover, 6-4 former Waynesburg star among others.

New Brighton, a rangey outfit, will debut against the Monessen Ozarks. The Ozarks will rely mostly on Roger Hotz, another CSTC product.

The Monessen Cro-Ams, always a tourney favorite, will open against McKeesport, another popular club. The Cro-Ams will go with the same quint that was good enough to win the City League title the past season.

Here are the officiating assignments for tonight: 6 p. m. — John Lipnicki and Julius Girhiny; 6:50 — John DiBiaso and Lipnicki; 7:45 — James Leeper and Joe Leone; 8:40 — DiBiaso and John Novakovich; 9:40 — Novakovich and Girhiny; 10:30 — Leeper and Leone.

Pirates Sign Another Susce

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have signed pitcher Paul Susce, 21, son of the former big league catcher and coach George Susce, to a contract with the Columbus Jets of the International League.

Susce will join the Jets Friday at the Pirate minor league camp at Jacksonville Beach. The right-hander is a graduate of Auburn University where in four seasons he won 30 and lost nine. Last year he was the most valuable player in the Southeastern Conference.

His brother, George Jr., pitches for the Boston Red Sox.

Monessen Fifth At Bentleyville Friday Night

Monessen Fifth Avenue will go to Bentleyville tomorrow, still eight full games in front of the Mon Valley Bowling League race.

The city girls swept over Monongahela last Friday to stay in firm control.

Babe Kroskie was the leading scorer in that game, rolling a 213-528 For the losers, Ann Inserra had a neat 197-569.

In other matches last week, Bentleyville whitewashed Charleroi, Uniontown blanked Scottdale, Connellsville won a pair from Fredericktown and Donora took two from Vestaburg.

Tow scorers included Virginia Tiny Toth (Charleroi) 172-437; Ann Soforic (Scottdale) 165-431; Martha Venturini (Uniontown) 193-468; Nancy Hudock (Connellsville) 190-485; Mae Jenaway (Fredericktown) 182-433; Helen Paro, (Donora) 159-453; Alice Jenkins (Vestaburg) 193-432.

Standings show Monessen, 69-15; Uniontown, 61-23; Donora, 56-28; Fredericktown, 50-34; Monongahela, 47-37; Charleroi, 47-37; Bentleyville, 44-40; Connellsville, 39-45; Belle Vernon, 34-50; Scottdale, 28-56; Vestaburg, 22-62.

Salay Stars in Parlors League

Mihalichs took two games from the Diethornes and Florists earned a pair from the Ravens in Parlors League bowling last night.

Sage Salay just missed setting a record when he rolled a 648 on scores of 182-238-228. He was two pins short of the record previously set by Robert McKeever.

Other top scorers last night were Mike Adamio, 228-571; Art Palm, 190-556; George Curry, 202-502; and Reggie Szabo, 173-500.

Standings show Florists, 23-13; Diethornes, 19-17; Mihalichs, 17-19; and Ravens, 13-23.

MHS Spikers to Defend Title Fri.

Greyhound Volleyballers Will Appear in WPIAL Show at Braddock

Monessen High will defend its WPIAL volleyball title tomorrow in the annual tournament at North Braddock.

Tourney Director Daniel G. Rice, of the host school, said that 17 teams will compete this season.

Monessen's first test will be against East Deer at 9:45 a. m.

The tourney will start at 8:30 a. m. and extend throughout the day.

First round games will pair Braddock against East Pittsburgh, at 8:30; Monongahela against Munhall and Aliquippa against Plum at 8:45; Charleroi against Bentleyville and Trafford against Kittanning at 9:10; Clairton against Homestead, Monessen against East Derry and Waynesburg against Coraopolis at 9:45.

Irwin drew a first round bye.

To Represent WPIAL

The District 7 champion will represent the WPIAL in the 20th annual PIAA volleyball championship series on April 6 at Penn State.

Monessen also won the WPIAL title in 1953. The Hounds went on to win the state crown that season as well as last year.

As a matter of fact, the WPIAL has dominated the past four state tourneys. Homestead took top honors in 1954 and 1955.

For the most part, though, Pittsburgh city champions have gone on to the PIAA crown. Peabody has won the title seven times and Westinghouse five times.

One Player Back

Monessen has only one player back from last year's fine team. He is Carl Crawley, the all-around Greyhound standout.

Crawley, injured a month back in an auto accident, has been slow rounding into shape. However Coach John (Corky) DeMillion hopes he'll be ready in time for Friday's test.

The Monessen boys were impressive enough when they swept the valley tournament at Bentleyville.

They will get much stiffer competition in the WPIAL show, though. Homestead and Munhall both have tough teams.

The Monessen cast includes Crawley, Tom Churan, Alvin Bost, Jim Baker, George Seleylo, Marvin Scales, C. L. Melenyzer, Terry Troop, Bill Mackinen and Carl Berkovitz.

Only Crawley is a senior.

The Junior WPIAL Tournament will be staged on April 4.

Big Ted Says He's Back in Top Condition

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)— Sitting it out again this spring, muscular Ted Kluszewski said today his sciatic condition is "100 per cent improved" and that he plans to go gunning for the National League batting title as soon as the bell rings.

The huge, 235-pound Cincinnati first baseman has seen practically no action in exhibition games this spring and there are already some whispers that he may be favoring the same back condition which sidelined him all last spring.

"My backside is a little tender," he admitted, "but it is 100 per cent improved over last year. I see no sense in rushing things, though. I'm just going to take it easy in the exhibition games and I plan to be in the lineup on opening day."

Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts is allowing Kluszewski to get into shape on his own and isn't concerned over his slugger's slow start.

"He'll be all right," Tebbetts says. "He looks a lot better to me than he did last year at this time."

Gymnast Wins Taylor Award

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Judith Hult Howe, member of the United States gymnastic team at the Olympics, received the John T. Taylor Memorial Award Wednesday night as the outstanding athlete of the Pittsburgh district.

The Rochester, Pa , housewife, the second woman to receive the award, edged out Ed Peery, University of Pittsburgh wrestler, in the vote of 100 sports writers, AAU officials and coaches. She received 461 votes and Peery 400.

Tom Lindsay, Pittsburgh swimmer, was third in the voting with 124 points and Alonzo Johnson of Rankin, Golden Gloves boxing champion, was fourth with 108.

Mrs. Howe was presented the trophy by Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, United States Olympic and Big Ten commissioner, at the annual award banquet at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel.

(George Vlasic, Monessen Turner volleyball star, was one of ten amateur athletes in the Pittsburgh district nominated for the coveted Taylor award.)

Joins Stars

NEW YORK (UP) — John Smyth, 6-foot, 5-inch Notre Dame captain, will play for the College All-Stars in the annual coast-to-coast basketball tour against the Harlem Globetrotters.

Two Sweeps in Hearth League

Balmers blanked Whitehouse and Van Marters swept over Weddells in Open Hearth League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Nick Cullen, 189-545; George Kunca, 198-488; Art Palm, 198-494; Joe Salay, 187-531; and Ed Kroskie, 192-510.

Standings show Maykovich, 21-12; Minardi, 19-14; Balmer, 19-14; Weddell, 18-15; Van Marter, 17-16; and Whitehouse, 7-28.

Sugar Ray Is Down to 170

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y (UP) — Sugar Ray Robinson weighed in at 170½ pounds on Wednesday after sparring six minutes and doing the equivalent of five rounds of gym work in his first "live workout" for a return match with middleweight champion Gene Fullmer at Chicago, on May 1.

Cards Look Good Except for Pitching

By LEO H. PETERSEN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) —Manager Fred Hutchinson figures his St. Louis Cardinals are "from 10 to 12 games" stronger this season than they were in 1956, when they finished fourth, 17 games behind the pennant-winning Dodgers.

But the lack of a hard-hitting centerfielder, only so-so catching and uncertain pitching may keep them from overhauling any of the three top rated clubs—the Dodgers, Braves and Redlegs.

"Our pitching should be better," Hutchinson says optimistically, "and Del Ennis is going to be a big help in the power department. I figure my club is the most improved in the league. The big question is, has it improved enough?"

If he has to go with what he has now, Hutchinson probably will two-platoon center with the fine-fielding but light-hitting Bobby Del Greco and Chuck Harmon, who failed to stick as an infielder with the Redlegs.

Counting On Ennis

The other two are fixtures—Ennis in left and Wally Moon, one of the favorites to win the National League batting title, in right. Hutchinson is counting on Ennis, secured from the Phillies, for 100 RBI's and figures his big bat should give the Cardinals as strong an array of four hitters as there are in the league.

In that four would be Stan Musial, Ennis, Moon and Ken Boyer, the power-hitting third baseman.

Musial will play first base with Don Blasingame at second and either Al Dark or Dick Schofield, who appears to be about ready to live up to the big bonus the Cardinals paid him in 1953, at short.

Hutchinson is high on rookie Eddie Kasko, up from Rochester where he hit .303. Kasko is listed as a shortstop but Hutchinson has been trying him out at second and third as well.

Eddie Miksis will stick as both an infield and outfield reserve while either Tom Alston or Joe Cunningham, both of whom failed to make the grade in other trials, will be kept as a reserve for Musial.

Hal Smith will be the No. 1 catcher but if something happens to him the Cardinals will be up against it, for Hobie Landrith cannot throw in major league style and rookie Gene Green, a .300 hitter at Rochester, does not appear to be ready.

May Be Key

Three pitchers obtained in off-season deals may be the key to the St. Louis staff. They are Sam Jones, 9-14 with the Cubs last year; Jim Davis, another ex-Cub with a 5-7 record and knuckle-baller Hoyt Wilhelm, the ex-Giant with a 4-9 mark.

Vinegar Bend Mizell, who won 14 while losing the same number in his first season after coming out of service, is regarded as the ace of the staff. Herm Wehmeier, who won 12 for the Cardinals after being obtained from the Phillies, and Lindy McDaniel, a seven-game winner in 1956 are other starters.

Murry Dickson, who will be 41 before the season ends, will be used in spot starting roles and also for relief. Two holdovers, Larry Jackson (2-2) and Willard Schmit (6-8) also will be back.

Four rookies are battling for the 10th pitching berth. They are Lloyd Merritt, Billy Muffett, Tom Cheney and Bob Smith.

Four Teams Prep For NCAA Semi-finals

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP)—All four teams in Friday night's semi-finals of the NCAA tournament drilled today at the scene of action, with the coaches of favored North Carolina and Kansas issuing advice to their rivals.

North Carolina (30-0) is favored over Michigan State (16-8) in the battle for the eastern title at 8:30 p.m. EST; Kansas (23-2) is picked over defending Champ San Francisco (21-6) for the western crown at 10:30 p.m. EST.

But Coaches Frank McGuire of North Carolina and Dick Harp of Kansas were busily sending out rays of hope for their foes.

"I think other teams might have a better chance of beating us if they would relax," said McGuire. "Their coaches are so tense when they face us that their players are not at their best."

Harp, on the other hand, feels that San Francisco, "A great defensive team with a great coach in Phil Woolpert, has all the ingredients needed to beat us."

What's needed to beat Kansas, of course, is some way of stopping All-American Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the seven-foot sophomore who averages almost 30 points per game, grabs rebounds, and bats away opponents' shots. Coach Woolpert says he's decided from watching movies of Chamberlain that he's just "unstoppable."

"Maybe we'll play all five men against him," Woolpert joked. "And maybe we'll just ignore him and concentrate on the other four players."

McGuire received a full scouting report on Michigan State when he arrived and said he expects a mighty tough game because "I know the Big Tena nd its teams are all tough."

Coach Forddy Anderson of Michigan State didn't show any of the tenseness McGuire spoke of, but he observed, "Someone's going to snap North Carolina's winning streak and it might just as well be us."

Close Scores in Weld League

Martin Service won two games from Williams and Lincoln took two from American Torch in Weld Bowling League action last night.

Standings show Martin Service, 21-15; Williams, 20-16; Lincoln, 16-20; and American Torch, 15-21.

Bulldogs Sweep In GAPA Bowling

Bulldogs blanked the Trojans and Irish won a pair from the Panthers in GAPA Bowling League action last night.

Top scorers were Demo Kafkalas, 189-435; Chuck Miller, 176-430; Paul Ciccirilli, 194-481; and Bob Martin, 186-460.

Larsen Never Looked 'Worse' In Spring Exhibition Debut

By UNITED PRESS

Don Larsen has made his long-awaited spring debut as a model of deportment for the New York Yankees and the unanimous verdict is that he never looked worse.

The Cincinnati Redlegs made the World Series perfect game hero look like nothing more than a perfect batting practice pitcher as they routed the Yankees, 20-6, Wednesday with a barrage of 25 hits. Larsen, pitching for the first time since his Oct. 8 epic against the Brooklyn Dodgers, retired the first two batters he faced but then was socked for five runs and six hits before retiring after three innings.

43 Total Bases

The Redlegs went on from that point to batter rookies Al Cicotte and Jack Urban with an attack good for 43 total bases and hand the Yankees what is believed to be their worst Grapefruit League loss since 1925. George Crowe, Jerry Lynch and Smokey Burgess collected a homer and a triple each and Don Hoak also weighed in with a triple.

The Boston Red Sox, who could not buy a run in the early days of Grapefruit League competition, went on their third straight scoring rampage when they downed the Chicago White Sox, 9-4. Dick Gernert drove in three runs and Billy Klaus knocked in two to lead the Red Sox' 11-hit attack.

Clem Labine, Bob Darnell and rookie Rene Valdes turned in a nifty four-hitter as the Brooklyn Dodgers scored a 2-1, 11-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Games Rained Out

Harvey Kuenn and Charley Lau knocked in two runs each to lead the Detroit Tigers on an 8-4 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who suffered their fourth loss in 12 games.

Richie Ashburn's bloop single knocked in two eighth - inning runs to lift the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-4 win over the Washington Senators. Ed Bouchee's three-run homer and Bob Bowman's solo shot accounted for the Phillies first four runs.

The Milwaukee Braves squared their spring record at 6-6 with a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics with rookie Jerry Nelson picking up the decision.

Chicago - New York at Phoenix and Baltimore - Cleveland at Tucson were rained out.

Coaches Begin Meeting on Rule Changes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—College basketball today appears headed toward less free throwing.

The nation's top coaches convened here to discuss rules changes for the game and top item on the list was the disliked one-and-one free throw system.

Reports from a Rules Committee meeting was that most coaches are unhappy with the current rules, and would like to switch to a system tried on an experimental basis this past season in the Big Ten.

Under the Big Ten system, the one-and-one does not apply to the first six fouls in each half. But outside of that lone conference, a fouled player trudged to the line in most cases knowing that if he could make his first shot, he would get a "bonus" try.

The coaches meeting opens officially today with the Rules Committee making its report at 1:50 p.m. The rules will be discussed officially at three different sessions before coming up for a final vote at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

The coaches, some 350 to 400 strong, do not make the rules but merely make recommendations to the National Rules Committee which opens its meeting here Sunday, following the national collegiate basketball championships.

Pirates Lose To Tigers, 8-4

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates take a breather from Grapefruit League competition today.

The Bucs hold a short morning workout and have the rest of the day to loaf.

The Pirates, who appear to have settled down to a win-one, lose-one pace, dropped an 8-4 decision to the Detroit Tigers Wednesday. Their exhibition record is 8-4.

Charley Lau racked Pirate starter Ronnie Kline for a two run homer in the fourth inning to put the Tigers out of reach of the Bucs. Kline was belted for five runs in the third and fourth innings.

Dick Hall, making his spring debut, pitched two scoreless innings for the Pirates.

Spices and Herbs Bring Out Best in Pot Roast

Nothing appeals to most of us more than a really good pot roast. And nothing is less appetizing than one that comes to the table pale and lacking the scent of spices and herbs.

Edith Barber

One of the favorite pot roasts is "Sauerbraten," a term more intriguing than its translation, which is of course "Sour Beef." For this the 4-to-4½ pound rump or round roast is marinated with spiced vinegar and allowed to stand 24 hours in the refrigerator. The meat should be turned occasionally so that the flavors may penetrate.

The next step is to drain off the liquid and keep it for use in the sauce. The meat itself should be browned on all sides in bacon drippings or any other type of fat. Then the cooking is finished in a close-fitting container in a slow oven or in a heavy kettle in which it should simmer over low heat for several hours. Either type of utensil should be covered.

The strained liquid should be thickened with flour and stirred until smooth with cold water before it is added. If the sauce is not brown enough to suit the eye, a bit of Kitchen Bouquet may then be added for color.

Sometimes a bit of sour cream is folded into the hot sauce before it is served.

SAUERBRATEN

4-to 4½ pound rump or round roast
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon whole black peppercorns
1 tablespoon powdered dry mustard
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
1 tablespoon instant onion flakes
½ teaspoon crumbled dried tarragon leaves
1 cup boiling water
1 bouillon cube
½ cup cider vinegar
2 tablespoons shortening.

Place beef in a close-fitting container with a tight-fitting lid. Combine next 9 ingredients in saucepan and mix well. Add cider vinegar and heat to boiling point. Cool, Pour over meat, cover and let marinate in refrigerator 24 hours turning frequently. Remove meat from marinade. Brown on all sides in hot shortening. Add marinade and roast, covered, in a preheated slow over (325 degree F.) 2 hours or until done. (If desired, cook in a Dutch oven over low heat for 2 hours or until done.) Remove meat from roaster. Strain gravy and thicken with 2 tablespoons flour to each cup of liquid Bring to boiling point and cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Serve over sliced meat. Yield: 8 servings.

QUICK MEAL

Pan-broiled lamb chops; New potatoes with chives; Lima beans in cream; Salad bowl; Eclairs (purchased); Coffee.

ORDER OF PREPARATION

Scrub potatoes and cook in jackets. Prepare salad and dressing. Pan-boil chops. Cook frozen Lima beans. Dress potatoes. Make coffee.

Protein Needed In Diets for Young and Old

Most mothers are exceedingly careful when it comes to feeding infants. They follow exactly the directions given them by the pediatrician who is consulted.

If the baby is bottle fed, the formula is prepared with all sanitary precautions. Fruit juices and strained vegetables and egg yolk are added to the diet at the proper time. Eventually, solid foods come to be part of the child's meal.

At the recent conference on protein nutrition the fact that the years following infancy are just as important as the first year was stressed by several of the experts. Dr. Genevieve Sterns of the Department of Pediatrics of the University of Iowa declared that "protein is the cheapest nutritional insurance we can buy for our children."

Between the 19th month and the fourth year there is particularly rapid muscle growth. Three glasses of milk, one egg, a serving of meat are recommended — with bread and cereals, which contribute less but are important supplementary sources.

Dr. Joseph A. Johnston of the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit showed that an adequate amount of protein protected teenage children from the onset of tuberculosis, even when they have come from a home exposed to this disease. Better diet is also a protection from rheumatic fever that may have an aftereffect of heart disease. During the adolescence of every child particular attention must be paid to an adquate amount of protein in the diet.

It is fortunate that peanut butter, a vegetable food with a high protein content, is a favorite with practically all young people.

PEANUT STUFFED PRUNE SALAD

18 cooked prunes
½ cup cottage cheese
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ cup chopped peanuts
¼ teaspoon salt
Mayonnaise or peanut butter salad dressing.

Pit and chill prunes. Combine cottage cheese, grated orange rind, peanuts and salt. Moisten with the dressing and stuff into tht prunes. Serve on shredded lettuce.

PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICH

Soften peanut butter with milk until of spreading consistency. Spread on slices of whole-wheat bread. Sprinkle with cut dates or raisins. Top with shredded lettuce and serve open or closed.

Tasty Recipes

TO COOK FROZEN VEGETABLES

Do not thaw vegetable. Bring water (1-3 to 1 cup) to boiling. Remove vegetable from carton. Add to water and bring to boiling. With fork separate into small portions. Cover and cook over low heat until vegetable is just tender. The period of cooking will be about half that of a fresh vegetable.

TO DRESS FROZEN VEGETABLES AFTER COOKING

When vegetable is tender, uncover and continue cooking over high heat until most of the liquid has evaporated. Add butter or cream and mix well. Test for salt. Add pepper. A cream sauce of medium thickness may be used instead of butter or cream. The addition of a dash of nutmeg is good with peas or asparagus. Onion juice may be added to taste.

Cook Frozen Vegetables With Lots of Care

For that quick meal of particular interest to the businesswoman housekeeper, but also used on occasions by all who plan and prepare family meals, canned and frozen vegetables are particularly important.

The 1956 packs of both canned and frozen vegetables were larger than ever before. Only one or two products are in smaller supply, and only by a slight reduction. It is interesting to note that the total amount of asparagus processed is larger than in previous years, although more of it was frozen and less of it canned. There is the same situation with string beans.

Most of the canned products are a little lower in price than are the frozen. And frozen vegetables are sometimes less expensive than fresh vegetables when the number of servings is figured. The trimming needed with fresh vegetables usually accounts for this.

It is just as important to cook frozen vegetables carefully as those in fresh form. Directions on the cartons should be read and followed. Everyone should form the habit of reading labels. Many of these give information of much importance to the user.

Eggs Are Being Used in Dishes for Every Meal

The egg production of the current year is larger than it has ever been before. The Secretary of Agriculture has therefore pronounced March as Egg Month.

The Department of Agriculture attempts to help all food producers find a ready market for their products. If this is successful, the farmers will be encouraged to continue high production. At the same time consumers will profit by putting more foods important for good nutrition on their tables.

In many households eggs are used for breakfast. They are poached, boiled, scrambled and occasionally made into omelets. Eggs, of course, are just as good for lunch as they are for breakfast. If members of the family eat their lunch at home, there is no reason why eggs cannot be promoted from the breakfast to the lunch table.

An omelet with a savory sauce or oven-baked eggs topped with a highly seasoned sauce may be featured as a hot dish. Boiled eggs, after cooling and shelling, are a favorite ingredient for salad or sandwiches.

For the third meal of the day do not neglect eggs, but use them as an ingredient for some favorite desserts, such as custards and tapioca cream. They also furnish much of the lightness in a cake.

EGGS ESPAGNOLE

4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons chopped onion
6 eggs
½ cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup grated cheese
¼ teaspoon salt

Melt butter in frying pan. Add pepper and onion and saute until slightly brown, then pour into shallow baking dish. Break eggs into dish. Mix crumbs with cheese and salt, and sprinkle over eggs. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 15 minutes, until eggs are firm. Yield: 6 servings.

EGGS FLORENTINE

6 tablespoons chopped cooked spinach
6 eggs
2 cups medium cream sauce
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup grated cheese.

Butter 6 individual baking dishes or ramekins. Place 1 tablespoon spinach in each dish. Break eggs and slip carefully onto the spinach. Mix cream sauce with seasonings and cheese and cover eggs. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 15 minutes, until eggs are firm. Yield: 6 servings.

VISIT NIPPON

JAPAN is making a strenuous bid for a major portion of America's booming tourist trade—a program that is already attracting over 125 thousand visitors each year. By 1960, jet planes will make the present 30-hour San Francisco-Tokyo hop in about 12 hours. Japan is anticipating a sharp increase in tourist trade by that date and, to meet the target, her timetable of progress calls for an estimated expenditure of some $100 million for new roads, hotels, resorts and other tourist needs. Among Japan's major attractions are silks, furs, cameras, Geisha girls, puppet shows and spas where entire families bathe together. Tourism is presently the Japanese nation's seventh biggest dollar-maker among her leading industries.

Japanese trademarks: cherry blossoms, pagoda.

WARM WELCOME OR COLD RECEPTION—In Amsterdam, as anywhere else, it depends on the point of view whether winter's ice is appreciated or not. For the skaters on the Grand canal (left), it's wonderful, but boat owners (right) can't wait for the ice to "weigh anchor."

Rostraver High Athletes, Coaches Banquet Guests

The Junior & Senior High School athletic banquet was held Tuesday at the new Rostraver Junior High School.

Senior coaches present were Wade Bender, George Everett, Howard Rodebaugh and Joseph Galayda. Junior coaches attending were Edwin Hogan and George Estok. Athletic director James Weir and faculty manager Harry Fleming were also present.

The toastmaster was Frank Buscanics. The Rev. Howard Rodebaugh gave the invocation. Guest speaker was Dr. Michael Duda, president of California State Teachers College.

Carol Wysochanski offered an accordion solo, Judy Paholski a piano solo, Carol Bernardo sang and Donald Branthoover played the saxophone.

Dinner was served to some 150 persons by the Junior High kitchen staff and the girls of the High School acted as waitresses.

Nancy Jane Stacy was accompanist for special numbers and Mrs. Bernowski led group singing, accompanied by Mrs. Odessa Smith.

Parent-Teacher Association Has Regular Session

The Parent-Teacher Association of Webster met Tuesday at the school for a regular meeting. Kathryn Jugan, president, presided.

Following the P.T.A. prayer by Jean Paradise, reports were given by Kathryn Sickles, secretary and Laura Boyce, acting treasurer. Peg Sarber spoke on the student aid fund and the group voted to donate $25 to the fund.

June Cupples, chairman of the membership drive said the Fourth Grade is leading the drive.

The nominating committee appointed consists of Esther Sickles, chairman, and Nellie Csuchran, Eva Dran, Edna England and Freda Smith.

Mrs. Bryce, program chairman, then introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Levin, who spoke on cancer.

The attendance banner was won by the Fifth Grade taught by Joseph Galayda. Lunch was served by Fifth Grade mothers.

Olive Branch Group Meets

The meeting of the Brotherhood of Olive Branch Church was held Tuesday at the home of Ray Lynn. President Bruce Skinner was in charge. The Rev. Henry Franks gave the invocation. Scripture reading was by Calvin Lynn.

Plans were made for the father-son banquet to be held April 26 at the church with women of the What-So-Ever-Class serving. Also plans were made to hold a banquet for wives sometime in May with the men on the serving end. Lunch was served by Mrs. Lynn to Bruce Skinner, Mr. Franks, Melvin Shupe, Thomas Staff, Jr., Harold, Ray and Calvin Lynn and two guests, the Rev. Louis Smith and Bill Springer.

Samaritan Class Asks More Orders For Easter Eggs

The Good Samaritan Class of Fellsburg Methodist Church met Monday in the upper room of the church with Elsie Lewis as devotional leader. Her topic was "Faith".

During the business meeting, reports were given by Nettie Douglas, acting secretary, and Elsie Lewis, treasurer. The ways and means committee reported more orders are needed for Easter eggs. These orders may be placed with any member of the class or by calling, Donora 4790-R 2. The meeting closed with repeating the Mizpah benediction.

The entertainment was a talent show presented by the committee. Thirty-one members and guests were present. Hostesses were Helen Opat, Thelma Cuthbert, Jean Rutherford and Louise Long.

Mrs. Ann Yakubic Leads Meeting Of Altar Society

The St. Anne Altar Society of Fellsburg met Tuesday at the church. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Ann Yakubic.

Mary Matava gave the secretary's report, Mary Dolnack the treasurer's and Helen Forlini the financial secretary's. The bed spread donated by Mrs. Kay Bruno was won by Irene Lerdansky and Mary Hajostek won the pig-in-the-poke.

Guest speaker was the Rev. Henry Marcinek, of Holy Name Church, Monessen. He also showed slides and films on the "Holy Shroud of Purim".

The meeting closed with prayer. Next month's meeting will be in charge of Jay Dominic, Frances Pasierb, Mary Hajostek, Kay Belevich and Mary Kuma.

Fellowship Class Holds Meeting; Dinner Served

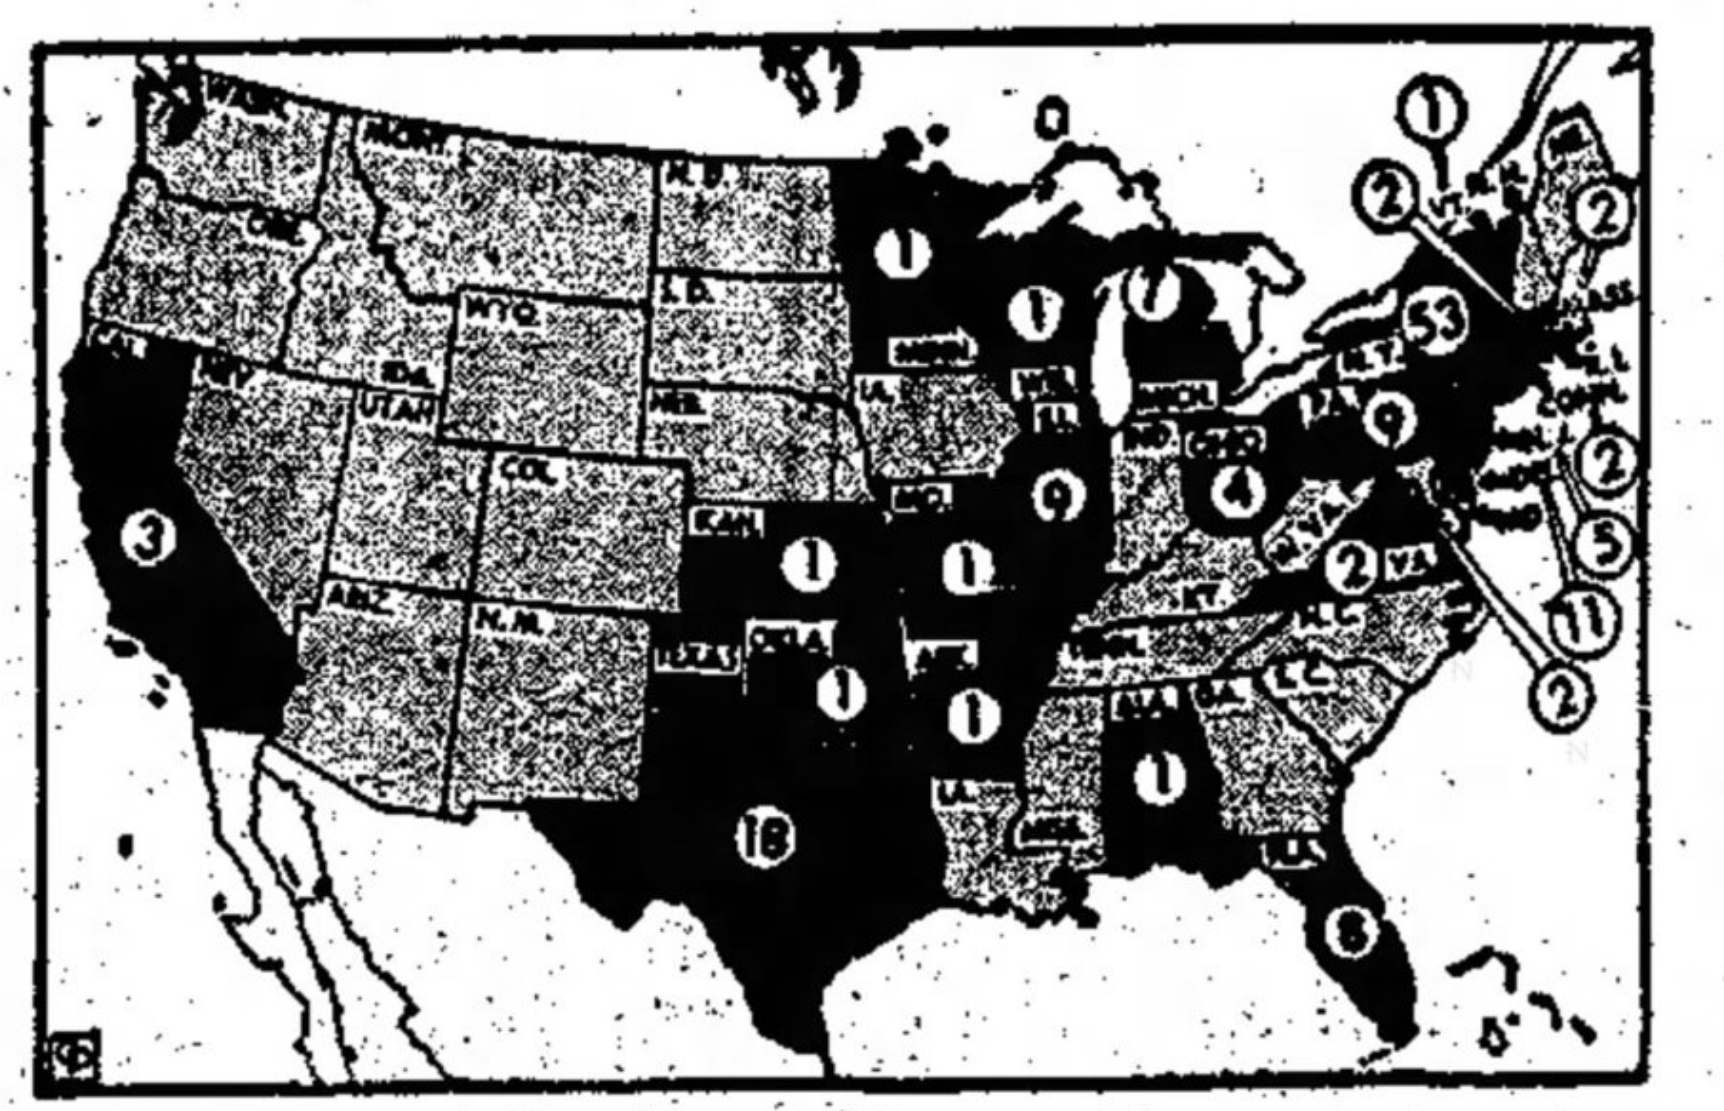
The Westminster Fellowship of Rehoboth Church met Monday with Joyce Sampey in charge. A covered dish dinner was served.

Following the meal, Kay Trickett read scripture and Sandy Stewart led prayer.

Joyce Sampey then introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Judson Wiley, of Mt. Pleasant First Presbyterian Church. He said young people should make up their own minds about problems that confront them.

The lunch committee was made up of Dave Nichols, Bill Kuhn and Eleanor Stark. Others who attended were Don Corbett, Cathy Sampey, Denny Leeper, Barbara Baron, Bob Kunkle, Bill Smith, Kenton Colvin, Nelson Jackaway, Karen Winstone, Lila Cinerski, Peggy Ferrier, a guest, and Mae Gilmer.

The Ladies Adult Class of Pricedale Sunday School will meet tonight at 7:30 at the recreation hall.



LOOKIT THE MILLIONAIRES! — The map shows the number of persons in various states with $1,000,000 or more income in 1956. New York leads with 53, Texas is second with 18 and Delaware ranks third with 11. The poor folks in the shaded states, alas, are without million-dollar incomes.

Gypsy Patriarch Is Dead

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UP)—Members of the sixth largest gypsy tribe in the world gathered here to pay final tribute to their dead patriarch.

George Toney, also known as George Antonio, died here Wednesday night in a private home a few hours after he and other members of the tribe were evicted from the house where they had been living.

The 67-year-old wandering tinsmith, critically ill for a week, was brought here to die Monday night after relatives removed him, unconscious, from Cone Memorial Hospital at Greensboro, N.C.

Hospital authorities said they understood Toney had been moved so tribal rites at his death "wouldn't disturb anyone."

The tribal leader, whose home was in Elizabeth, N.J., was stricken last week while traveling from Birmingham, Ala., to Danville, Va.

The gypsies bundled Toney into an ambulance and brought him here, the first of two moves the dying chieftain made this week.

'Fuzzy' Language Sparks Row Between United States, Israel

(The United States and Israel have been hotly debating the situation in the Gaza Strip in Egypt. Israel suggests this country has broken a promise to keep Egypt out of Gaza. "We never promised," replies the U. S. United Press Diplomatic Correspondent Donald J. Gonzales shows, in the following dispatch, how the use of "fuzzy" language has sparked the current row between the two countries.)

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP) — One of the chief causes of the current row between Israel and the United States is their use of fuzzy diplomatic language. Such language can, and in this case does, conceal sharp differences of viewpoint.

This blurring of national intentions can lead to serious results when the inevitable showdown reveals a country's real hand. A review of the U.S.-Israel dispute shows the word trap these two nations got themselves into.

Two weeks ago Israel withdrew its armed forces from Egypt on the basis of its widely-publicized "assumptions and expectations" that things would be better in Gaza, Suez and the Gulf of Aqaba than they were before Israel invaded Egypt.

The United States, urging Israel's withdrawal, said its "hopes and expectations" were (1) "not unreasonable" (as Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. put it), or (2) "reasonable" (as President Eisenhower later put it.)

This diplomatic gobbledygook is at the root of current American-Israeli differences. It promoted Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir to fly to Washington in search of new definitions, and actions to break them up.

Israel, in general, claims the United States before Israel's withdrawal gave "promises," "endorsements" and "moral commitments" which now demand U.S. action.

Not so, says the United States. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles didn't give Mrs. Meir the definitions she wanted to hear. He said only, "The United States stands firmly by the hopes and expectations" it previously voiced.

How did all this business of "hopes - assumptions - expectations" come about? Why didn't the two countries use the langugage of "agreements," "understandings" or "guarantees?"

Israel didn't want to give up all the military gains of its October-November attack on Egypt. It said a withdrawal from Gaza would mean new Egyptian guerrilla attacks and renewal of Egypt's bar to Israeli ships in the Gulf of Aqaba.

U.S. Eyes Oil

The United States, with an eye on its relations with oil-rich Arab states said to Israel in effect, "you committed aggression — you have no right to hold territory gained that way!"

When Israel insisted Egypt must "never" return to the Gaza Strip the United States said it "hoped" the United Nations would stay there. But it said Egypt had the legal right to govern the strip if it wished.

Through French intervention, the Israelis then began talking in terms of "assumptions and expectations" as a way out. This sounded okay to the United States which studiously had avoided "guarantees" or similar language that might commit this country farther than it was willing to be bound.
